houses; out of these 6 were free schools, and 93 Sunday sch. (exclusively, with 604 teachers and 8457 child.),—and 124 in union with the National soc. had 8426 child., and total grants of 2342*l*. Offenders in '48, 310 (av. of 5 yrs. 295), of whom 227 were convicted, 21 females, 12 under 15 yrs. of age, 82 could not read or write. Following the 7 sup. registry districts of '45 (total pop. 138,248 + 726), the 'births' were 4542, of which 2169 were females,—328, or 7·2 per cent. illegit.; 'deaths' 2973, or 1 in 47,—the general av. being 46; 'marriages' 970 (at church 881), of which 975 persons, or 49 per cent., signed with marks. The surface is naturally divided into the "Chilterns," a range of chalk hills, passing from Oxford by Wycombe, Wendover, Tring, and Ivinghoe, into Beds., part of which is heath and woodland, and part carefully cultivated, producing crops of wheat, barley, oats, sainfoin, beans; and the "vale" in the middle about Aylesbury, proverbial for its fertility and its rich meadows and pasture. Beyond the vale to the N., are the sandstone hills, with a clay soil over limestone, where wheat and turnips are grown. Av. size of farms about 200 acres; stock of cows for the dairy, chiefly Hereford and Yorkshire shorthorns, 20,000, each producing about 200 lb. of butter annually,—a few cream cheeses are also made; the stock of sheep is about 220,000, the Dorsets for lambs, S. Downs for mutton, and a mixed Glouc. and Leicest. for wool, which produces about 4600 packs. Great numbers of Berksh. hogs are reared in the dairy lands, and Aylesbury is famous for its early Christmas ducks. Beech (in saxon buccen, whence the name of the co. is supposed to come), which is made into chairs, etc., and oak, are the principal timber,—the most woody parts being about the Chilterns, Brill in the middle of Bernwood forest, and Whadden chase; box abounds at Ellesboro', and juniper near H. Wycombe and Amersham. Among other plants are found, white maiden-hair and a coralwort, at Beaconsfield; Canterbury bells, yellow centaury, and bee and musk orchis, in the chalk at Gerard's cross; Solomon's seal, in Wycombe woods; clove pink, at Langley; broom rape near Iver; black hellebore, Durham woods; hairy sheep's scabious, on the way to Iver; fly orchis and golden lungwort, Cheyneys garden and wood. Manufactures employ 5772 persons, the chief being bone lace at Hanslope, Olney, etc., but now on the decline,—and straw plat; wooden ware of the cherry tree is made at Chesham, paper (333 persons) at H. Wycombe, Loudwater, etc., copper and brass articles at Temple mills, on R. Thames; in '47, 204 hands were employed in the silk factories. Trout are caught in R. Colne; eels, perch, gudgeon, roach, in the Thames; perch, pike, bream, in the Ousel. Wycombe, besides one or two other stations, was successively occupied by the Britons, Romans (who called it Ad Vicum), and Saxons; Icknield St. went from Dunstable, past Windover and P. Risborough into Oxford.—Watling St. by Fenny and Stony Stratford (the roman Magiovinium),—Akeman St. across the N. to Bedford; of 7 castles there are no traces, and of the 21 religious houses founded before the Reformation, there are remains of Medmenham abbey, where a society called the "monks of St. Francis" used to meet, and Notley abbey,—also of Missenden priory, Burnham and Ivinghoe nunneries, Ashridge college of bon-hommes, and Eton college; of 10 hospitals one still exists at N. Pagnell; Hanslope, Ickford, Lathbury, Ravenstone, Stanton Bury, Twyford, Upton, Water Stratford churches, are part norman; Chetwode (with its ancient painted windows), and Hillesdon, are good specimens of a later date; some old mansions are seen at Boarstall (which was frequently taken by both parties in the civil war), Cheyneys (burial place of the Russells), Fulbrook, Greenland, Gayhurst (where Sir K. Digby was born), and Widmer. Aston Sandford was the rectory of Scott the commentator; Butler's Court, or Gregories, was Burke's seat; at Chalfont St. Giles, Milton finished his 'Paradise Lost,' during the plague (1665), having previously written his 'Comus,' 'L'Allegro,' etc., at Horton, where he lived with his father; a spot at Hampden was that on which the 20*s*. ship-money was levied, which the great patriot tried in court; Monks' Risboro' has a large cross cut on the hills; at Olney Cowper lived till he moved to Weston Underwood; Herschell's large telescope is still at Slough; Stoke Pogis churchyd. is the scene of Gray's 'Elegy'; Atterbury was born at Milton Keynes,—and Bp. Jno. King, whom Jas. I. called his 'king of preachers,' and Bp. Hen. King, his son, at Wormenhall. BUTE ISLAND (in gaelic Boïd), which gives name to the shire below, between the Frith of Clyde and Loch Fine, SW. Scotland, is separated from Argyll. by a narrow strait called the Kyles of Bute. Length NNW. and SSE. 16 m.; av. breadth 8, greatest breadth 4; circuit 40 m. by coast, which is rocky, and has along it Rothesay the capital and its castle (the dukedom of which belongs to the Prince of Wales) on that bay, Begannoy point, Kiltattan and Glencallum bays opposite the Cumbræ, Garrock Head at the S. corner, Stravannan bay, Scalpsie bay near Ardschalpie pt., St. Ninian's opposite Inch Marnoch, Ellerick bay and McNeill's isld. Buttock pt. at the N. corner or elbow of the Kyle, Ardmaleesh pt. Kames bay and Port Bannatyne. Pop. 7878 + 93; houses 1694; for poor 101l. It consists of 2 pars. containing about 30,000 acres chiefly belonging to the Marq. of Bute, barren and rugged to the N. where slate and greenstone with trap are found, the highest point being Kames hill 875 ft.—but having a middling soil on a red sandstone and limestone bottom at the S. the highest point of which is Suidhe Chatain 520 ft.; micaceous iron ore, traces of coal, pink, brown, and other spars, are found. The system and extent of cultivation here, as in Arran, has very much improved; woodland about 1000 acres. In the lakes, the largest of which are Fad and Ascoy, perch, trout, and pike are caught, and salmon in the streams; at Boyany is a mineral water. The chief remains are Rothesay castle, the favourite seat of the Stuart kings, and burnt 1685 by the Earl of Argyll; Kilmorie castle, which belonged to the Jamiesons; Kames cast. the old seat of the Bannatynes; Spence's castle, St. Blaine's chapel near the devil's caldron; Dungyle, a danish fort; with ruins of other forts and tumuli, left by the Northmen, who held possession here for many centuries before it came under the power of the Scottish kings. By early writers the people were called Brandini or Brandans.

BUTESHIRE, between Ayr and Argyll, in SW. Scotland, consists of the islds. of Bute, Gt. and Lit. Cumbræ, Inch Marnoch in one group; and Arran, Lamlash, and Pladda, in another. Extent 150,000 (?) acres; of which Arran 115,000, Bute 30,000, Cumbræ etc. 5000, 1-5th is cultivated and 1-3rd is unprofitable. It contains 15,740 + 154 persons, of whom 5789 are in Rothesay burgh,—8585 females, 7191 under 20 years of age, 10,713 county born,—1848 or 11·8 per cent. live by commerce, trade, manufact., 1419 or 9 per cent. by agricult. (612 being farmers and graziers), 159 educated professions, 511 are independent, 2391 labourers and servants, besides others; 3067 houses, exclusive of 112 empty and building; 6 parishes, besides 2 quoad sacra, and Lit. Cumbræ which belongs to W. Kilbride, Ayr.; 1 royal and parl. burgh, (1 being assessed) 1567l. of which 1314l. for 407 poor on roll, 88l. for 36 casual poor. Par. and other schools about 40, attended by 2300 child.; av. no. of offenders ('36-46) 13,—but only 2 in '48. The only manufacture is cotton which employs 357 persons chiefly at Rothesay, besides 148 returned as spinners and weavers; in '47 (a bad year) 655 hands were in the cotton factories. The fisheries at Rothesay in 1840, employed 786 persons and 263 boats, and 17,119 barrels of herrings were cured. Lights are shown on Lit. Cumbræ and Pladda islds. The climate, though moist, is very mild and favourable to delicate persons. Under the auspices of the Marquis of Bute and the Duke of Hamilton, these islands have made rapid progress; the soil, formerly neglected for the fisheries or ruined by one course of crops, is drained and cultivated upon the best systems of husbandry, and a farmers' society has been established. Leases run 19 yrs.; lands are inclosed, and the farm buildings neat and comfortable. Some of the families and seats are Marquis of Bute (who owns nearly the whole of that island) Mount Stewart, Hamilton of Kames, McKinley of Braes, Millar of Millport, Thom of Ascoy.

To the S. are the Morven or Morbhein hills, or C. Paps, a limestone range, rising 1221 ft. at one point, with granite towards the Ord, — thence along the W. border granite and gneiss are found; the rest of the county is bare moorland, with a few stunted trees, a clay and marly soil for the most part, but sandy to N.E.; the whole lying on a substratum of old red sandstone, which occupies 4-5ths of the county, and extends to the Orkny. and Shetld. islds. Spittal hill is the highest point here, having a wide range of view, and under it a hosp. found. by St. Magnus. Cultivation backward, but great improvements have taken place; chief crops, oats, beans, potatoes, turnips, — the climate being too wet for much wheat; flax is also grown. The small black cattle and sheep are now crossed with Argyll and Cheviot breeds, and wool is exported; there are many swine, and small horses are brought from the islds. Estate large; farmers along shore, half fishermen. Peat is abundant and well stocked with moorwood; some bituminous coal is found at Canis-bay. Traces of lead, iron, and copper are seen, and building and mill stones, granite, and slate, are quarried at Castletown. Reay, Thurso, Wick, and Berridale Waters, are the principal streams, and produce plenty of salmon. Cod, ling, and other fish, are caught, but chiefly herrings, — the seat of which is Wick, where 1500 to 2000 boats assemble in summer. The largest lakes are Watin (which has an old fort near it) and Cathel, each 3 m. by 2; in Halkirk par. are 24, all stocked with eels and trout. Swans visit those in the N. in their way to the Orkneys; and there are many chalybeate springs at Halkirk, etc. Among the antiquities are numerous remains of Picts' houses or danish camps, especially at Halkirk; circles at Steinster loch, and Bower; several castles, as (besides those above) Barrowgill, Braal (the Harolds, earls of C.), Dirlet (the Sutherlands); Sinclair and Achaistal (the Sinclairs), Lochmore (Ronald Cheyne's hunting-seat), and Achnarvon. At Achaishal, near Spittal hill, the people met in public; the bishop had a seat at Scabster; and a patch of ground near Duncansby Hd. marks the John o' Groat's 8-sided house. No Sinclair will wear green, or cross the Ord (or Forest) on Monday, on account of their misfortunes at Flodden. In Pentland Frith are Swalachie whirlpool and breakers occasioned by the strong currents which sweep through. Chief seats, etc. are: Earl of Caithness (head of the Sinclairs) Barrowgill Cast. R. A. Anstruther, Bt. Watten, Dunbar, Bt. Hempriggs, G. Sinclair, Bt. Thurso

Following the Sup. Registry districts of '45 (total pop. 169,638 + 2130) the 'births' were 6273*l.* of whom 3003 were females, 355 or 7 per cent. illegit.; 'deaths' 3685 or 1 in 46, the av. being 46; 'marriages' 1459 (at church 1352) of which 1471 persons, or 48·8 per cent. signed with marks. The chalk hills, which belong to the Chiltern range, run across the S. corner, from Royston to Newmarket heath, the highest point being Gogmagog, near Cambridge; clunch, of which Ely cathedral is partly built, appears about Burwell; a strip of blue clay or gault, with iron sand, passes down the basin of the Cam to Ely, where it rises into a moderate swell, on which the city stands, and is there used for white bricks and earthenware; another strip of Portland oolite lies between this one and the Bedford cuts. All the rest, indeed from Cambridge northwards, is one dead flat of fenny land, forming the S. part of the Gt. Bedford Level intersected by numberless canals and ditches (partly navigable) for draining, with steam-engines and windmills for lifting the water, and osier beds and lines of dwarf willows to complete the prospect. Wheat, beans, turnips, and sanfoin are grown on the uplands, where the soil is a mixture of chalk, clay, loam, gravel, while the rich, black, spongy soil of the fens, when once reclaimed, is usually sown with cole seed, to be eaten off by sheep, and then, besides turf for fuel, produces very heavy crops of wheat, barley, oats (which was the prevailing corn before the land was improved), potatoes, and hay. Hemp and flax are raised about Wisbeach, Upwell, etc., and saffron is grown at Cherry Hinton, which takes its name from that fruit having been grown there once. The dairy lands in the middle are famous for Cambridge butter; and fine cream cheese is made at Cottenham and Soham. Great numbers of cart-horses, cattle, pigeons, and long-woolled sheep are bred in the fens, which abound with wild fowl; short woolled sheep are pastured on the heaths to the SE. The farms are mostly small and held at will, but some at 4 or 5 yrs. lease; farm buildings middling. The only manufactures are baskets and matting from reeds. Native plants are very numerous, among which are varieties of toadflax, chickweed, maidenhair, bellflower, carex, sunflower, clematis (at Cherry Hinton), heath, ladies' bed-straw, gentian (Ch. Hinton), hyssop, vetch, flax (Ch. Hinton), mint, dutch myrtle (Ely fens) water-lily, orchis, marjoram, saxifrage, crowfoot, wood or dyers' weed (Ch. Hinton), sweet briar (Gogmagog hills), thyme, trefoil, valerian, speedwell, periwinkle; the neighbourhood of Cherry Hinton, Cambridge, Gamlingey, Madingley, Gogmagog, being places where they most abound. Principal seats, etc. are: Duke of Rutland Cheveley Pk., Earl Hardwicke Wimpole Hall, E. Delawarr, Bourne Ho., E. Kilmorey Waresley Pk., Lord Godolphin Gogmagog Hill, Cotton, Bt., Madingley Pk. Watson, Bt. Wrattling Pk. Mrs. Pigott of Abington Ha., Adeane of Babraham, Jenyns of Bottisham, Osborne of Branches Pk., Tharpe of Chippenham Pk., Newton of Croxton Pk., Mrs. Gardner of Fordham Ab., Townley of Fulbourne Ho., Quinton of Hatley Pk., Batson of Horseheath Lo. Knight of Milton, Mrs. Cheere of Papworth, Huddleston of Sawston Ha. Dayrell, of Shudy Camps Pk. Eaton of Stetchworth Ho., Allix of Swaifham. The Cambr. hounds are kennelled at Stratton Beds. — The Icknield St. went across from Newmarket to Royston, where the Ermine St. crossed to Godmanchester; remains of the Via Devana are seen between Balsham and Cambridge, where another way crossed from Ely into Beds.; the Soham causeway was part of the great road through the fens into Lincoln. Traces of british earthworks are found at the Devil's Ditch, near Newmarket racecourse, which was the boundary of E. Anglia and Mercia,—and at Fleam Dyke not far from it, near Balsham; and coins, urns, and other roman antiques have been turned up at Arbury, near Cambridge (the only station, see below), at Vandlebury camp on Gogmagog hill (so called from the Vandals whom Probus brought over), Chatteris, Ely, March, Soham, Wilney, and other places. Of the 36 religious houses, including 4 abbeys and 11 priories, besides 9 hospitals, founded here, there are remains of Thorney and Denny abbeys, and Isleham and Barham priories. Downham was an old seat of the bishops. Specimens of saxon or norman styles are to be seen at Ely Cathedral, Duxford, Ickleton, Stuntney, many other churches having norman doorways; of later styles at Ely, especially the beautiful Lady Chapel,—at Sutton, a very regular example, the Sepulchre church and the glorious chapel of King's Coll. Cambridge, and Swaifham.—No remains are found of 9 castles, except the gate of that at Cambridge; Catledge or Kirtling hall is an ancient seat of the Norths; Balsham was the residence of Sutton, who bought the old seat of the De Veres at Castle camps to give to the Charter House,—Stuntney of Cromwell before he got into parl.; and at Spinney his son Richard received Ch. II. after the Restoration. At the Conquest the I. of Ely became remarkable for the 8 yrs. defence made by Hereward and others against William; it was afterwards fortified by Hen. III.'s rebellious barons, and by Cromwell against Ch. I. — Roads are: 1. Cambridge to Hauxton 4 m., Melborne 10, Royston 13, thence to Baldock 23, or

* * P. M. * A. CANTERBURY city (3) a county of itself, locally in Bridge hund. St. Augustine lathe, E. Kent, 55 m. from London or 81 by S.East. rail., a sessions, election, and polling town, excise collection, militia head qrs. and seat of the primacy of all England, on Watling St. and R. Stour, is the Dwrcern of the Britons, Duroverum of the Romans (who built the walls), Cantuarabyrig, or "Kent town," of the saxon kings of Kent, who made it their metropolis, and was at that time noted for its abbey and cathedral, founded upon the conversion of Etheldred by St. Augustine the first archbishop; was repeatedly taken by the Danes 843, 852, 918, etc. and 1011, when St. Alpheg was put to death; appears as the Civitas Cantuarie of 'Domesdy.' with a castle b. by the Conqueror, and later still, after the murder of à Becket 1170, was distinguished for the pilgrimages from all parts of Christendom to his shrine; visited by Hen. II. 1172, '79, and '84, by Rich. I. 1194, Rich. II. 1389, Hen. VIII. and emp. Ch. V. etc. 1519, and Eliz. etc. as below; — is a boro' returning two members to parl. from Edw. I., the limits under the Reform act, including the 13 pars. below, with part of Holy Cross, the boro' of Longport and the ext. par. places, or precincts of the archbp.'s palace, Christchurch (the cathedral), East Bridge and St. John's hospitals, Old-Castle, St. Augustine abbey, and the almonry, — the no. of electors being 1625 (of 101. houses 3699); and by the municipal act is divided into 3 wards (formerly 6), governed by a mayor, ald. and 18 council. with the style of "mayor and commonality of city of C." and a revenue of 37311. Acres of boro' 3240, chalk and clay; pop. 15,435 + 97, employed in the corn, hop, and wool trade, formerly in the manufactures of 'Chambrery' muslins and silk — first brought here by the Walloons. Houses 2769, many old-timbered, on a flat surface, which in the course of time has gradually risen above the river, — with the cathedral, 11 churches, 6 chapels; guildhall reb. in Anne's time, sessions house and co. genl. co. hosp. on site of abbey, 2 banks, savings bk. (116,0211. from 4173 depositors), assembly-rooms, theatre, gas and water works close to the castle ruins; cavalry, infantry, and artillery barracks; philosoph. institution, corn and hop exchange, butter, fish, and cattle markets, military hospital, Masters's nursery of rare plants, etc., gram. school (formerly the almonry or mint) found. by Hen. VIII. with about 24 scholarships or exhibitions, and the place where Harvey, Dr. March, and Lord Tenterden (whose father was a barber here) were educated; Jesus hospital (6181.) founded 1596 by Sir J. Boys; Eastbridge hosp. (5121.) to which Cockyre's hosp. and Abp. Whitgift's school are attached, founded by Abp. Lanfranc, who also founded St. Nicholas's at Harbledown (2801.), of which the chapel remains; blue-coat hosp. (4751.) on the foundation of Archdn. Langton's poor priests' hosp., which is now the city workhouse; St. John's hosp. (4851.) found. 1084 by Lanfranc with remains of the chapel doorway; Cogan's hosp. (2481.) for clergymen's widows; Mayner the Rich. or Maynard's, hosp. or spittle (2441.) found. Hen. II.'s time; Hackington hosp. (261.), Smith's almsh. (2601.), Harris's 681., Dean's sunday school (431.); the Abbot's, Dean's, and other old mills. Assd. taxes 45851.; poor r. 81331. on 47,3281. (Bromley U.); real prop. 47,6921.; charities 48991., of which, besides the above, Lovejoy's is 5521. *Living*s in dioc. of (Cant.) are: All Saints Rect. with St. Mary-in-Castle Rect. and St. Mildred, val. 1501., patr. Ld. Chancellor, — St. Mildred ch. on the site of an older, has tombs of the Attwoods, Cranmers, and others; St. Alpheg Rect. with St. Mary Northgate Vic. 1501. Archbp., — ch. has some curious epitaphs; St. Andrew Rect. with St. Mary Bredman Rect. 2031., Archbp. and Dean and Chap. — St. Mary ch. has tombs of Herne who wrote the 'Hist. of Reculver,' St. George Martyr Rect. with St. M. Magdalen Rect. 1401., Dean and Chap., — St. George ch., once norman and lately restored (when a sedilia, piscina, etc. were found) has a wooden tower, brass of 1531, and both have old fonts, — St. Mary's has 2 brasses (1492); St. Margaret Rect. 871., Archdn., — ch. has a tomb of Somner the city historian and brass of J. Wynter (1479); St. Mary Bredin Vic. 1491., Rev. H. L. Warner, vicar, of Dane John manor, — ch. b. at the Conquest by Fitz-Hamon, has an old font and wood tower; St. Peter Rect. with Holy Cross Vic. 1611., Archbp. and Dean and Chap., — Holy Cross ch. close to Westgate, ancient and cruciform, has a font, and had a chantry; St. Martin Rect. with St. Paul Vic. 3001. Archbp. and Dean and Chap., — St. Martin ch. small and rough cast, on a hill beyond the walls, and lately well restored by the Lancefields at the cost of Hon. D. Finch, is partly of roman brick and tile, on the site of one which was built for Augustine or before, and was a sort of cathedral to a resident suffragan bishop, — it has an ivied tower, stained windows, 3 brasses (1587), and a norman font 3 ft. high, which they say is the one in which Ethelbert was baptized, 597, with old yews in the ch.yard, and a fine view from the porch, — St. Paul ch. early eng. has a pillared font, 2 bras-es and a tomb of Adml. Rooke of Rooke's Nest, which was formerly St. Lawrence's leper hosp.: these pars. constitute the borough. Another outside the walls is St. Dunstan Vic. 1201., Archbp., — ch. ancient, but modernised, belonged to St. Gregory's coll., has a half circular tower close to the W. tower, a piscina, font, vestry (a chantry 1330), and the head of Sir T. More in the chantry found. (Hen. IV.) by the Ropers of Place house (the gateway of which is part of a brewery). The churches are mostly flint and rough cast, containing fragments of older buildings. The cathedral (lately restored) which at first was Ethelbert's house, was burnt by the Danes 1011, reb. 1023 by Canute, again reb. after another fire by Abp. Lanfranc 1078-1080; the choir being taken down was reb. under the name of the "glorious choir" by prior Conrade 1114, and after a fire of 1174 was finally reb. with its transept 1174 by Will. de Soissons; the present nave and its transept 1379-1420. It is a double cross like that of Rochester, the length being 514 ft., of which choir is 180, and 71 high; E. transept 154 ft. through, the W. 124; and the styles are specimens of all the early norm. to latest eng. The beautiful central Bell-Harry tower is 235 ft. high, the Oxford and Arundel towers at W. end 130; St. Andrew's and Anselm's tower at E. end —. In the nave (214 ft. by 94, and 80 high) are Prior Goldstone's beautiful later eng. porch (1517) and the great W. window, with mon. of Gibbons the organist, Casaubon, Rooke, and others; the NW. transept near the cloisters, called the 'Martyrdom,' where Æ Becket was murdered, had a fine painted window, much injured by the puritans 1641; close to it is the Lady, or Dean's, chapel, b. by Goldstone, with mons. of Wotton and other deans; in the SW. transept is St. Michael's chapel, b. by Abp. Sudbury, with mons. of duke of Clarence, Langton, etc., and the porch of the Black Prince's chantry; the decorated screen dividing the nave and choir was the work of Prior de Estria; in the choir, which is chiefly transition norman and early eng., are Q. Edith's tomb; in NE. transept Trinity chapel, and its pavement, on which stood the gold shrine containing the relics of Æ Becket, which on the jubilees drew 100,000 persons with their offerings, and where are mons. of Hen. IV. and his queen, the Black Prince, Chicheley, Bouchier, and other prelates; and at the extremity is Æ Becket's Crown (norman and pointed) with mons. of Cards. Pole and Chatillon, and the ancient chair in which the abp. is enthroned. Within the precincts are the archbp.'s palace (now a workshop), the almonry or King's school close to Green Court gate, the waterhouse on the wall; baptistry with its norman door, prior's chapel or library with an old copy of Dunstan's charter, and an inlaid table; Prior's gateway covered with ivy; the treasury where records are kept, with its unique norman staircase in good condition; the cloisters (134 ft. square) restored by Prebendary Peel, with 683 shields running round; the chapter-house (on N. side) 92 ft. by 37, early and later eng., in which Hen. II. did penance 1172. The crypt, or undercroft, where the Wallons had service in French, contains the Virgin and other chapels in norman and later styles, with many tombs. C. Abbey in which the apostle of England was buried 605, was dedicated to him by Dunstan 978, was mitred and had a mint and large possessions; part of the walls, the beautiful N. gate in decorated style, and the ruins of St. Pancras remain; St. Ethelbert's tower (which covered his grave) was suffered to fall down 1822. Hen. VIII. turned it into a palace for himself, and Eliz. kept her birthday here 1573; Jas. I. gave it to the Cecils, from whom it came to the Watsons, who entertained Chas. I. on his marriage with Henrietta Maria, at this place 1625, and received Chas. II. at the Restoration 1660. St. Augustine's missionary college founded on the abbey site by H. Hope, Esq. M. P. (who restored the old gate), and b. by Butterfield 1847-9, is a quadrangle, including a chapel, hall, library, cloisters, corridor, etc. in the monastic style. Remains are left of St. Lawrence's hosp. wall with his gridiron upon it; of blackfriars' house (b. 1217) now a baptist and unitarian chapel, and the wall of St. James's leper hosp.; but those of St. Gregory's priory, founded by Lanfranc 1084, the porch of which is at Beachley, are removed. Near Oatenhill on Watling St., where the gallows stood, was St. Sepulchre's nunnery (found. 1100 by Anselm), of which there are traces, and to which the impostor Eliz. Barton the 'holy maid' belonged. The gray friars who came over 1224 had their oldest house (part of the walls are left), and the templars a preceptory, here. In Castle St. is the keep of the Conqueror's castle. 'Chaucer's Inn' stood in Mercery Lane. The city walls, about 1½ m. in circuit, 20 ft. high, still have left one of the 3 posterns, four of the 21 turrets, and one out of 6 gates, viz. Westgate and its towers (reb. by Abp. Sudbury, Rich. II.'s time) on the London road, now used as a gaol. On the S. between Worthgate, where stood a roman arch (removed to Lee Priory), and Riding Gate, through which Watling St. passed, is the Dane John, or Dungehill, supposed to be the site of a danish work, or a corruption of donjon—and 1790 laid out and planted for public use by Ald. Simmons, with a terrace 1840 ft. by 15. Mrs. Behn (b. 1612), Gostling (b. 1696), and Somner (b. 1606) the antiquaries, Dr. Linaere (1460), Dean Nevile, and Boyle (b. 1566) the great earl of Cork, were natives. It publishes the "C. Journal," "Kentish Gaz." "Kent. Herald," and "Kent. Observer" newspapers; and gives title of visct. to the Manners-Suttons. Roman ways went to Dover, Lyme, Richboro', Reculver, as well as London. The abp.'s PROVINCE includes the dioceses of St. Asaph, Bangor, Bath and Wells, Canterbury, Chichester, St. David's, Ely, Exeter, Gloucester and Bristol, Hereford, Lichfield, Lincoln, Llandaff, London, Norwich, Oxford, Peterboro', Rochester, Salisbury, Winchester, and Worcester,—a jurisdiction which comprises all England except 6 northern counties. He is first peer of the realm next to the royal family, and places the crown on the sovereign's head at the coronation; seats at Lambeth and Addington park, patr. of 149 livings, and income 15,000*l*. The Aeron divides the county into 'Upper,' lying to the N. and E., which is uniformly hilly or mountainous, — and 'Lower' to the SW., which is flatter; the shore being flat and sandy. Plinlimmon on the Montgomery. border is 2463 ft. high; Tregaron Down 1747, whence the Cors Goch bog extends 5 m. along the Teifi; other heights are Talsarn 1143, and Capel Cynon 1046. Llyn Teifi, at the head of that river in some of the highest ground, is the largest lake; near it are Llynns Gynon, Egnant, Ruddon Vawr, and others. Shale and slate (used for roofs, and floors) with some gray mountain stone, form the substratum; having a clay and peat surface in the uplands, which are bare and uncultivated, but good mould by the rivers in valleys, — some of which, as the Teifi, Ystwith, Aeron, and others, are well cultivated. Chief crops are barley and black oats — of which the bread is made, — with wheat, rye, peas, beans, potatoes, and a few turnips. Limestone is brought all the way from Pembroke, and much seaweed found on the shore. Agriculture is backward, — the ploughs, harrows, etc. being very clumsy. Farms run to about 150 acres, and farm-buildings are slowly improving, but the cottages are miserable. Hogs are reared, and butter made for the market, — the cattle being a small but hardy black breed; it is noted for the small welsh mutton, with hind quarters weighing only 8 or 10 lb., and a fleece of about 2 lb. Besides the native trees, — oak, ash, and alder, — large plantations of larch have been made in some parts; stockings and flannels are manufactured (47 persons were employed in the woollen factories 1847), and hats for exportation to the rest of Wales. Trout and eels are caught in the lakes, herrings alongshore, and sewin (a small choice fish) and salmon at the Cennarth falls in the Teifi, where the ancient corwg, or coracle boats, weighing only 40 to 50 lb., are still used. The beaver, noticed in Howel Dha's code, and by Giraldus, has been long extinct. Euphorbia peplis sea sponge, and statice armeria sea gillyflower, are found near Aberystwith. Gray mountain stone is quarried for buildings, tombs, rollers, roads, at Llanwenog, Penbryn, Aberystwith; slate at Ynis Hir. Few of the mines which were worked by the Mines Royal and other companies, from 1563, and were very productive, are now in operation; they employ 774 persons, of whom 545 were lead miners, chiefly at Cwm Ystwith. Quartz, black jack or zinc, and silver, were found; the lead yielding from 35 to 40 oz. of silver to the ton; Llanfair mine gave as much as 100 oz. Cwm Symlog was that which brought Sir H. Myddleton his large fortune; Bushel, in Ch. I.'s time, coined the produce of his mines at Aberystwith, and the Pryses had a rich one at Esgair Hir, discovered 1690. Principal rivers are, Teifi (Turobinus of Ptolemy, navigable to Llechryd, where were some tinplate works), Ystwith (anc. Stuccia), Rheidol which is joined by the Mynach at the Devil's Bridge, Dovey, Clwrach, Leri, Towy (only the head of it), Gwyrai, Arth, Aeron, Camddwr. Of the antiquities there are, druidical, — at Yspty Cynvyn, Carrog near Llanllwchaïr, Alltgoch near Lampeter, etc.; roman — at Llanio (anc. Loventum) on the Sarn Helen or Lleon, i. e. the 'Legion way,' which went thence to Penalt and Carnarvon; british — at Llandysilio-Gogo, Llanvihangel Penbryn, Blaenporth, Lampeter, Llanvihangel Istrad, Kellan, Mynydd-Trichrig. Of five religious houses there are remains at Ystrad flur, or Strata florida, on the roman way; at Llandwibrefi St. David held the synod for suppressing the Pelagian heresy. Castle ruins — at Aberystwith, Cardigan, Castel Gwalter, Ystrad Meirig, and traces at other places (see CASTLE). The chief families and seats are Pryse-Loveden, M. P. of Gogerthan, Powell, M. P. of Nantes, Vaughan of Crosswood, Davies of Peterwell, Lloyd of Allt yr Odyn, Brigstoke of Blaenhant, Lloyd of Coedmore, Lloyd of Mabus, Hoghton of Hafod (which belonged to Mr. Johnes), Gwynne of Tyglyn, Lewis of Llanerchayron, Jones of Llanina. Moel Ifor was an old seat of the Gwyns. H. Llwyd, the great antiquary, was born at Glanfraed; Dafydd ab Gwilym, the bard, at Llanbadarn fawr. At Lampeter is St. David's college for clerical students, and off Aberystwith a great bank marks the Gwaeld hund., which was swallowed by the sea. Under native rule this county was part of the kingdom of Dinevor; the Danes harassed it 987 and 1071; in 1092 the Normans first overran it, but were driven out by Cadwgan 1097. Hen. I. granted it to the Strongbows, and Hen. II. restored it to prince Rhys; Llewlyn ap Iorwerth took it 1215, and, on the overthrow of Llewlyn ap Gruffydd, Edw. I. joined it to England 1284. Roads: 1. Cardigan to Blaenporth 6 m. New Inn 11, Llanarth 18, Aberaeron 22, Llanrystid 29, Aberystwith 37, Aberdovey 47; or to Machynlleth 52. 2. Cardigan up the Teifi to Newcastle Emlyn 9, New Inn (on the Clewyr) 17, Lampeter 26 (thence to Llandoverly 16), Tregaron 35, Devil's Bridge thence to Rhayadr 16) 47, Machynlleth 60; or by Lampeter to Aberaeron 39; or by it to Llanrystid 40, and thence to Aberystwith 48.

* P. M. CARDIGAN par. (58) Troedyraur hund. S. Cardigan. 239 m. from London, the county, assizes, and (Epiphany) sessions town, and a port and polling place, at R. Teifi's mouth, and called Aberteifi by the Welsh, has the remains of a castle b. about 1090 by the norman barons, which after several changes, in which it was taken by the welsh princes (who here held Eisteddvodau) 1107, and 1176, was finally taken by the English 1240, settled upon Catherine of Arragon by Hen. VII., garrisoned for Ch. I. by Girard, and stormed by the parliament general Laugharne 1654; — is a boro', incorporated by Edw. I., and the head of a parl. district, which includes Atpar, Lampeter, and Aberystwith, and returns one member, its own limits comprising the par. or old boro' with Bridgend and Abbey, in St. Dogmel's par. Pembroke, — total no. of electors 754 (101. houses 2410), and chief influence with Powel of Nanteos and Pryse Loveden of Gogerthan; and under the new act is governed by a mayor, 4 ald., 12 council, with the style of "mayor, com. council, and burgesses of the town and boro' of C.," and a revenue of — L. Pop. of parl. dist. 11,296, — of boro' 3800, — of par. 2925 + 13, — of town 2528, chiefly agricultural, some in the salmon fisheries and coasting trade; houses 655, on the N. bank, with 4 chapels, shire hall, county gaol by Nash, 2 banks, market-house, waterworks, Lady Cornwallis's free gram. school (221.), 7-arched bridge, Union p. house; assd. taxes for dist. 1478*l*.; poor r. 762*l*., on 6329*l*.; real prop. 6018*l*. St. Mary Vic. (St. Dav.) val. 153*l*., patr. Ld. Chancellor; church, decorated and later styles, but altered in building, with tower, and 8-sided sculptured font. The Priory, a seat of P. Miles, Esq., formerly of the Pryses and of Mrs. Phillips (who wrote "Letters of Orinda," and was praised by Roscommon and Cowley), stands on the site of a small black priory, which was a cell to Chertsey. Parts of the wall and towers of the castle which belongs to A. Jones, Esq. overlook the river close to the bridge. The town walls are gone, and it gives title of earl to the Brudenells. The port includes Newport, Fishguard, Aberaeron, Aberpath, and New Quay; but the bar harbour below the bridge, which at times has but 6 ft. water, admits only small craft. In 1846, 259 sail of 13,800 tons (159 being under 50 t. each) belonged to the port, to which Aberaeron, Fishguard, Newport, New Quay, are sub-ports; and the tonnage Inwards and Outwards, including repeated voyages, was 'coast-wise,' 915 of 21,864 and 88 of 2347 tons, — from and to 'colonies,' 7 of 1425 and 2 of 537 t., — from 'foreign ports,' 1 of 114 t.; total customs 112*l*., — exports being grain, slates, bark, etc. Route: From Lond. to Bristol by rail. 112 m., thence to Chepstow 17, Usk 31, Abergavenny 47, Crickhowell 53, Brecon 65, Llandovery 83, Newcastle Emlyn 113, Cardigan 122. ✕ C. ARCHDEACONRY, dioc. of St. David, contains the deaneries of Emlyn, Kemmes, Sub-Ayrion, and Upper Ayrion. Card. P. L. Union, contains the pars. etc. of Aberporth, Blaenporth, Cardigan, Llandygwidd, Llandoedmore, Llechrydd, Mount, Tremain, Verwick, in Card. — Bayvil, Bridell, Dinas, St. Dogmel, Eglwysrwrw, Kilgerran, Llanfair Nantgwyn, Llanfihangel-penbedw, Llantood, Llanychlwydog, Manerlwyd, Meline, Monington, Moylgrove, Nvern, Newport, Whitechurch, in Pemb.; pop. 19,901, cases relieved (yr. 1846) 2161 (out-door 1994), expend. 6791*l*., prop. rated 59,039*l*. Sup. Registry comprises the same; pop. 19,903 + 112. The New County Court district corresponds with the Registry. Mkt. D. Sat. Fairs, 13 Feb. 5 Apr. 8 Sept. 19 Dec.

Cardigan Bay (58-9) the bend of the welsh coast, along the shires of Cardig. Merion. and Carnarv. between C. P.M.*A. CARLISLE city () St. Mary's and St. Cuthbert's pars. locally in Cumbri'd. ward, NE. Cumbri'd. 301 m. NNW. from London by rail. through Lancaster, the county, sessions, and assize town, seat of diocese, a bonding port, election and polling place (for E. Cumb.), on the wide plain of Rs. Eden, Caldew, and Peteril, and Newcastle rail. is Lugwallium of Antonine, near Stanwix or Congavata (the 15th station on the wall), the Caerleol of the Britons, and seat of the famous Arthur Uthred Pendragon (i. e. head chief), and other kings of Cumbria; was desolated by the Picts and Scots, rebuilt by Egfrid, king of Northumbria, who gave it to St. Cuthbert, bishop of Lindisfarne, to which it was joined till Hen. I., 1133, made it a separate bishopric; was again destroyed by the Danes 875, and revived by Will. Rufus, who b. the castle 1092; held by David of Scotland from 1135 to 1153, after which it was yielded to England, again burnt 1292, besieged by Bruce without success 1315, and as the key to Scotland, was the scene of most border events down to 1645, when it was taken for parl. by Gen. Lesley, and a century later occupied by the Pretender;—has returned two members from the time of Edw. I., the bounds under the Reform act, including the tnsps. of Abbey, Castle, Fisher, Scotch, and English streets within the liberties which constitute the old boro', and those of Rickergate, Botchergate, and part of Caldewgate,—which, along with Cummersdale, Botcherly, Briscoe, belonging to the city, are without the liberties,—no. of electors being 1067 (of 101. houses 3754); was first chartered by Rich. I., and by the act of 1835 is divided into 5 wards, governed by a mayor, 10 ald., 30 council. with the style of "may. ald. bailiffs, and citiz. of city of C.," and a revenue of 3491*l.* Acres of boro' 6740, of which 4080 in St. Mary's; pop. of city 23,012 + 301,—of boro' 20,815, in the manufact. of cotton, gingham, checks, hats, whips, hooks, and in calico-printing, the salmon fisheries, and coasting-trade. Houses 3516, many well built of stone,—with the cathedral, 12 churches and chapels; castle and barracks; court house (cost 100,000*l.*), for Easter and Midsum. assizes, formerly the citadel, and county gaol on site of black-friary, both by Smirke; old town and moot halls near the mkt. cross (1682); old gaol, assembly-rooms, theatre; newsroom and library by Rickman, who also built the new churches; academy of arts, mechanics' institute, 3 banks, savings bank (91,847*l.* from 3447 depositors), 8 guilds, gasworks, factories, dye-works, foundries, breweries; Hen. VIII.'s gram. school, in which Bp. Thomas, and Dean Carlyle, a native and arabic scholar, were educated; girls' school (37*l.*); Freeman's almshouses, St. Patrick's school, county infirmary, house of recovery, or fever hosp.; dispensary, in which a child was born 1788 without a brain, and lived 6 days; Harrowby Hill and St. Mary's and Union poor-houses; 5-arched bridge over the Eden (70,000*l.*), by Smirke, each arch being 65 ft. span; 2 small bridges on the Caldew, one on the Peteril. Assd. taxes 3798*l.*; poor r. 2347*l.* on 27,004*l.*; real prop. 66,441*l.*, of which 3909*l.* on canal; charities 122*l.* Livings are: St. Mary Cur. (Carl.) val. 79*l.*, patr. Dean and Chap.,—church, is part of Cathedral nave; St. Cuthbert Cur. 150*l.*, Dean and Chap.,—ch. b. 1778 on site of a very old one, with mon. of Dean Carlyle; Holy Trinity Caldewgate Cur. 86*l.*, Incumbent of St. Mary's; Christ Church Cur.

150*l.*, Incumbent of St. Cuthbert's. The Cathedral, found. as a priory, of which the gateway remains, by Walter the Norman, and endowed by Hen. I. 1011, is cruciform, with the loss of the W. half of the nave, which was pulled down in the civil war, as were the chapterhouse and cloisters; what is left is used as a church, and has the thick columns and round arches of the norman style; the choir is early and decorated eng., and contains an E. window 48 ft. by 30, which Kickman thinks exceeds in beauty the W. window of York,—also a fine brass of Bp. Robinson (1616), a native, with mons. of Bps. Barrow, Bell (triple canopied brass 1496), Henry,—and of Edw. Law, Paley, and Anderson the Cumberland poet. Size of choir 137 ft. by 71, and 75 ft. high; transept 124 by 28; embattled tower 130 ft. high. Within the precincts are Priest Senhouse's Deanery (1507), with emblazoned oak ceiling; the frater, or refectory, now the chapter-house, where Edw. I. held a parl. on his return from Scotland (1307) with stone confessional chair. Within the castle, which has been restored, and like the cathedral forms one of the most conspicuous objects here (for which it was used as a beacon in the forays), are the old keep or armory built by Rufus, and the barracks; the tower where Mary Q. of Scots was confined is pulled down. In 1546, Scott of Buccleugh rescued 'Kinnmont Willie' from this fortress, as told in the 'Border Minstrelsy.' The site of St. Nicholas's leper hosp. which was given to the chapter, is now crossed by the Newcastle rail., but part of the town walls, supposed to have been first built by the Romans, and restored by K. David, remain. Roman coins, altars, inscriptions, brass incense vases, etc. have been found; and roads went to Penrith and Lancaster, to Old Carlisle and Ellenborough, and to Longtown. An earthquake which reached to Newcastle and Glasgow was felt here 1786. It is considered healthy, and the 'Carlisle Tables' in use at many life assurance offices, published by Milne, and founded on the rate of mortality given by Dr. Heysham, 1779-87, are nearer the average, and therefore more equitable, than any others. The 'C. harriers' hunt round here; it supports the 'C. Journal,' and 'C. Patriot' newspapers, and gives title of Earl to the Howards of Naworth. Cooly Castle, H. Howard, Esq.; Kickerby, Capt. Graham. A rail. 70 m. long joins the place to Lancaster, in conjunction with the Caledonian rail.; another of 62 m. joins it to Newcastle, in conjunction with a third one of 28 m. to Maryport, etc.; the ship canal made 1819, runs from the basin 10½ m. to Bowness, on Solway Frith (whence a steamer plies to Liverpool), rising 70 ft. with 9 locks, and admitting small craft. In 1846, 43 sail of 2942 tons (14 being above 50 t. each), and 3 steamers of 607 t. belonged to the port, which has Allonby and Port Carlisle for sub-ports; and the tonnage Inwards and Outwards, including repeated voyages, was 'coastwise,' 235 of 9405, and 730 of 32,542 tons (besides 148 steamers of 38,471, and 145 of 37,919 t.),—from and to 'colonies' 17 of 3299, and 5 of 1083 t.,—from and to 'foreign ports,' 1 foreigner of 550, and 1 of 150 t.; total customs 48,122*l.*—the trade being in grain, bark, etc. The DIOCESE, province of York, is co-extensive with the ARCHDEACONRY, which contains the deaneries of Allerdale, Carlisle, and Westmoreland, or 96 benefices, comprising all Cumbri'd. and Westmri'd. except Allerdale-above-Derwent and Kendal wards. Bishop's seat, Rose Castle, and income 3000*l.*, with patr. of 45 living. Abps. Usher and Sterne have held it. The DEANERY contains the benefices marked in Cumberland and Eskdale wards, with Hesketh in the Forest cur. The chapter consists of a chan., 4 canons, archdeacon (345*l.*), chancellor, 4 minor canons. Carlisle P. L. Union, contains the pars. etc. of Carlisle, Beaumont, Burgh-by-Sands, Crosby, Dalston, Grinsdale, Kirkandrews, Orton, Rockcliffe, Stanwix, Warwick, Wetheral, Wreay with Blackwell, Carleton, Harraby, Kingmoor, Upperby acres 53,890, pop. 36,084, cases relieved (yr. 1846-7) 3419 (out-door 2875), expend. 8523*l.*, prop. rated 137,941*l.* Sup. Registry comprises the same up to Wreay, with Highead, Little Corby, Middlesceugh, Braithwaite; pop. 36,159 + 318; births (1845) 1244 (598 being females, 127 illegit.)—deaths 752—marriages 250, of which 136 persons signed with marks: 41 deaths from cholera in '49. The New County Court district includes the Registry, with Brampton and Longtown. Mkt. Ds. Wed. (6 before the Union), being 2 for county (1184 elect.), and one for Carlow (as below); is governed by a lord lieut., high sheriff, 3 deputy lieuts., and about 46 magistrates; is in the Home circuit, the E. military district, and Leighlin diocese, which with Ferns is united to Ossory. Gross rental (1846) 222,319*l.*, or 21s. 1*d.* per acre; val. to poor r. 193,838*l.*; county rate ('48) 18,457*l.* Loan funds ('48) 5, with a capital of 3478*l.*, and circulating 13,040*l.* Schools (national) 55, with 7735 child. attending,—in 1841, 8135 went to schools of all kinds, and 387 per cent. of the pop. could not read or write. Av. number of committals ('45-8) 501, of whom 227 were convicted. Births, 1 in 34; deaths 1 in 32. On the S. are the Blackstairs granite range, and Mt. Leinster (2604 ft.), and to NE. are some hills from 400 to 900 ft.; with this exception, the surface is nearly level upon a limestone bottom. Soil, in the uplands gravelly—in the plain, rich loam, with abundance of pasture and many dairies, whence excellent butter (as much as 50,000 firkins yearly) and fat cattle are sent to market. Acres in crop ('48) 89,214, of which the chief are oats 25,875, potatoes 13,668, wheat 12,205, meadow and clover 26,291, barley and rye 5349, turnips 3500,—and val. of live stock in '41 on 6375 farms above one acre, was 278,159*l.*, including 28,432 sheep, 23,163 cattle (Durham cross, etc.), 21,408 pigs, 9702 horses, etc., 102,031 poultry, etc. About 300,000 barrels of flour and meal are ground in the water-mills scattered along the Barrow,—some of which as at Milford, etc. are very large. The plantations are oak (851 acres), fir (268), chestnut, lime, thorn. Draining is backward, and the inclosures are frequently either a stone paling made of granite which splits easily, or a ditch. Coal, worked at Castlecomer, and limestone, which is sometimes marbly, and bears a polish, is used for building and other purposes. Manufactures, of no consequence. The Burren and Durmeen are two small branches of the rivers above. Among the antiquities are remains of a cromlech 23 ft. long, weighing 90 tons, at Viewmount, and another at Tobintown; an old church at St. Mullin's; abbey ruins at Wells and Tullough,—where also is the Graces' castle and the Cloch a Phoil or hole-stone, through which children were passed; an old rath at Leighlin bridge; Lacy's castle at Carlow, to guard the Pale; the Ormonds', at Clogrenan, White and Black castles at Leighlin—once the seat of a bishop, where a synod was held 630; the Templars' cast. at Ballymoon; Butlers' at Clonmore; and one at Clonmullen, where lived Carolan's 'Aileen a Roon.' Some of the leading fams. are: Viest. Duncannon Garrihill, Butler, Bt. Ballintemple, Kavanagh of Borris Cast., Bruen of Erin Dale, Eustace of Castlemore, M'Clintock of Moyle (through the Bunburys), Newton of Dunlechny (through the Ryans and Bagenals). Other old names were Duval, St. Aubin, Cooke, Bermingham, Carew, Burton of Burton. Carlow, or Catherlogh, was made a shire within the Pale or Irish border by John, who gave it to Will. Earl of Pembroke, whence it came through the Bigods and Howards to the Crown. As guardians of the pale, they were involved in continual warfare with its native possessors and the chiefs beyond, but nothing of historical importance occurred. Roads: 1. Carlton, or Carlion (31) 2 m. S. of Truro, W. Cornwall, was, according to Thomas of Ercildoune, the birthplace of K. Arthur's companion, the famous 'Sir Tristram of Lyons.'

Carmacup, 11 m. S. of Lanark, SW. Lanark. CARMARTHENSHIRE (37, 40-2, 56-7) a seaside county on the Bristol Chan. in S. Wales, the seat of the Demetæ or Dyfed in the roman Britannia Secunda, afterwards part of Ceredigion or Dinecor, was traversed by the Via Julia Maritima, lies between Rs. Loughor and Teifi, is watered by the Tawe and the Towy, whence it was called 'Ystrad Towy,'—and bordered by Glamrgn. (SE.), Brecon. (NE.), Cardigan. (N.), Pembroke. (W.), and sea (S.). Length from Amroth Cast. to the head of R. Bran 50 m., greatest breadth 35, av. breadth 21; circuit 165, including 35 of marshy coast, along which are Llanelly and the subordinate ports of Kidwelly, Laugharne, St. Clear, Carmarthen, all in C. Bay; relative size 117-10,000ths. It contains 974 sq. m. or 623,360 acres, of which about one third is waste, though partly enclosed; 106,326 + 567 persons, of whom 19,222 are in Carmarthen, Llanelly, and Pembrey,—55,650 are females, 51,502 under 20 yrs. of age, 97,547 county-born,—9070, or 8·5 per cent. live by commerce, manufact. etc. (1637 being miners), 14,511, or 13·7 per cent., by agricult. (5503 being farmers and graziers), 705 educated professions, 3602 are independent, 26,806 labourers and servants, etc.; 23,449 houses, besides 1629 empty or building; 8 hundreds (formerly 3 or 4 cantrefis and 12 cwmwds)—Carnwallon (S.), Cathinog (N.), Cayo (NE.), Derllys (W.), Elvet (mid., round Carmarthen), Iskennen (SE.), Kidwelly (S.), Perfedd (E); 72 parishes, besides parts of 4 others and 1 ext. par. place; 8 market towns—Carmarthen, the county town, etc. as below, Llanelly parl. boro', Llandeilo-fawr (where Midsum. sessions are held), Llandovery, New-castle in Emlyn, Kidwelly boro', Laugharne boro', Llangadock—the first five being polling places, and the heads of poor law Unions and new county courts; returns three members to parl.,—2 for county (elect. 5261), and one for Carmarthen etc. as below (elect. 915); is in Welsh circuit and Home military district; is governed by a lord lieut. high sheriff; and about 35 magistrates; and constitutes an archdeaconry in dioc. of St. David's, province of Canterbury.

Real prop. (1815) 282,030*l.*, — ('43) 396,915*l.* of which 9596*l.* on mines; ditto rentals 216,643*l.* or 6*s.* 11*d.* per acre (when wheat was 77*s.*) and 315,761*l.* or 10*s.* 1*d.* per acre (wheat 55*s.*). County income ('48) 14,823*l.*, of which 9592*l.* from co. rate (on a val. of 324,100*l.* made 1841), 2988*l.* from police r. Poor r. (yr. 1846-7) for 5 unions, 31,038*l.* on 332,373*l.* or 1*s.* 10*d.* in the £ (wheat being 59*s.*) — cases relieved 10,429 (out-door 9557) in estimated pop. of 114,080. Total charities 1088*l.*, of which 397*l.* for schools and education; savings bks. ('49) 3, with 29,204*l.* from 921 depositors; in '38-9, 1679 m. of road (257 m. being turnpike) were maintained for 6285*l.* In '46-7, out of 90 pars. 68 had 87 church schools, supported by 2299*l.*, with 5332 child. attending, and 86 paid teachers (15 being monitors), whose salaries were 1599*l.*, and who had 14 teachers' houses: out of these 52 were free schools, and 22 sund. sch. (exclusively, — with 245 teachers and 2146 child.); and 26 in union with the National Soc. had 1693 child., and total grants of 1056*l.* Offenders in '48, 65 (or 72 av. of 5 yrs.), of whom 33 were convicted, 16 were females, 1 under 15 yrs. of age, 32 could not read or write. For births, deaths, etc., see S. WALES. A range of bleak hills divides R. Cothi from the Teifi, the highest point (1168 ft.) being near New Inn; another range to the SE., beginning at Myndd Mawr with Llyn Tegwyn on top, divides the Towy from the Laugharne, rising into the Black mountains on the E. border, where the Ban Sir Gaer, or C. Beaom, is 2596 ft. high. Between these lies the valley, or Ystrad, of the Towy, most part of which to N. and W. belongs to the Silurian or slate system; E. of it and across its mouth is a strip of old red sandstone; next to this, another of carboniferous lime and grit stone edges the great Glamorgan coal basin, which stretches beyond Kidwelly. Climate mild, but rainy; with a good soil about the Towy, but poor and clayey in the uplands, where peat is the only fuel. Oats are the chief crop for bread and exportation; on account of the climate much of the wheat is imported. Cattle, as well as sheep, are the small native breed, with a few from Pembroke, Hereford, etc. Butter and hogs are sent to market from the dairy lands. Farm system, bad, but improving; buildings, inferior; cottages of mud, and thatched; and stone inclosures. Coal — chiefly stone coal with many fossil plants (and employing 1499 persons) — and iron are worked around Llanelly; copper at Kidwelly; slate, building, and fire stone at Cwm Gwili and elsewhere; dark blue marble at Llangydeirn; and lead (74 persons) at Lord Cawdor's mine near Nant-y-Meryn up the Towy. Woollens (111 persons were employed in factories 1847), and hides, are made for exportation; and fine fish caught in C. Bay. Branches of the Towy (the anct. Tobius), which produces salmon and sewin, are, the Gwili, Cothi, Bran, Sawddy, Cennen; other rivers, — the Tave, with the Gynin, Cowyn, Morlais, for branches; the two Gwendraeths; the Lloughor or Loughor and Ammon. Llanarthne has a good mineral water. At Kidwelly is a canal 5 m. long; and two or three rails for mining produce run up from Llanelly — one 15 m. long along the Loughor; 35 m. of S. Wales rail. will go through Loughor, Llanelly, Kidwelly, Carmarthen, Whitland ab. (towards Narberth). The roman Via Julia Maritima went along the coast through Leucarum, or Loughor, and Maridunum, or Caer-marthen; traces of the Sarn Helen (Legion way) are seen from Carmarthen towards Llanvair (where many remains have been found) on the Towy, in the direction of the supposed Via Montana; and towards Llanio in Cardigan, whence a third branch went round to Llanvair again. Coins have turned up at Penboyr, Cilymaenllwyd and Convil Gaio. At Buarth Arthur is a druid circle with a cromlech near it; Convil, in Elvet, has some earth-works and part of a cromlech; there is a camp at Cron Gae — Dyer's 'Grongar hill;' and another, — called Tricrug — at Llangadock. Besides these, are remains of Talley and Whitland abbeys, and Llanilwny priory; of castles, at Carmarthen, Kidwelly, Laugharne, Lanstephan, Newcastle Emlyn, and at Carrig Cennen, Dynevor (the seat of the S. Wales princes), Dryslwyn, and Llandovery, all in the vale of Towy. As part of Dynevor it belonged to the fam. of Rhys, descendants of Rhodri Mawr and Howel Dha (who promulgated his welsh code from Ty Gwyn near St. Clear), till subdued by Edw. I., when it was made a distinct county. Merlin's grove is at Abergwili, where, 1020, Llewelyn ab. Ithyllt defeated Run, a scottish leader; at Llandovery Pritchard was born, who wrote the 'Lly-fr-y-Ficer,' or Vicar's book, a collection of pious carols as common as the bible. Some principal seats and families are: Earl Cawdor Golden Grove, where Jeremy Taylor was protected by the Vaughans, Bp. of St. David's Abergwili Palace, Lord Dinevor Newton, Mansel, Bt. Iscoed, J. Williams, Bt. Edwinstford, E. CARNARVONSHIRE (74-6, 77-9) a seaside county W. of the Conway, NW. Wales, called 'Ar-fôn' (i.e. opposite Mon or Anglesea) by the Welsh, and once the seat of the Cangi and Ordovices in the roman Britannia Secunda, and part of Venedotia or Gwynedd, includes the 'Forest of Snowdon' or Snowdonia,—is traversed by the Sarn Helen, Watling St., and Holyhd. rail, and bordered by Merioneth (SE.), Denbigh (E.), Menai Strait and Anglesea (NW.), and the sea (N. and SW.). Length, from Braich-y-Pwll to Lit. Orme's head 51 m., greatest breadth 22 m., av. ditto 9; relative size 94-10,000ths; circuit 145, including 95 of coast, along which are Gt. and Lit. Orme's heads, Conway harb., Port Penrhyn whence slates are shipped, Bangor and Lavan sands in Beaumaris bay, Menai Strait and Bridges, Carnarvon, with its bay outside, Porthdynllaen near Nevin, Bardsey isld. and light, Aberdeen and Hell bay, St. Tudwal's road, Pwllheli harb., and Tremadoc in Traeth-mawr, where 7000 acres have been gained from the sea. It contains 544 sq. m. or 318,160 acres, of which $\frac{1}{2}$ is unimprovable mountain, etc. about $\frac{1}{2}$ in pasture, and 7000 to 8000 under tillage; 81,093+1634 persons, of whom 22,557 are in Carnarvon, Bangor, Llanllechid par., Pwllheli,—41,468 are females, 37,774 under 20 yrs. of age, 71,223 county-born,—9813, or 12.1 per cent. live by agricult. (3496 being farmers, graziers), 6278, or 7.7 per cent. by commerce, trade, manufact. (4572 being quarriers, miners), 420 educated professions, 2281 are independent, 20,460 labourers and servants; 16,845 houses, besides 902 empty or building; 10 hunds.,—Is-Gorfaï and Uwch-Gorfaï (Mid. and W. round Snowdon), Uchaf (N.), Creuddyn (NE.), Isaf (E.), Nant-Conway (SE.), Evionydd (S.), Dinlaen, Gafflogian and Commitmaen (SW.); 68 parishes (besides parts of 5 others), and 2 ext. par. places; 7 market towns,—Carnarvon the co. town, etc. as below, Pwllheli, Conway, Bangor city and seat of a bishopric, Nevin, Criccieth (disused), Tremadoc (new),—the first four being poor law unions, and (with Tremadoc) New County Courts; returns two members to parl.—viz. one for the county (elect. 2819), one for Carnarvon and its five contributory boroughs, as below; is in Welsh circuit, the assizes being at Carnarvon,—and in the Home military district; is governed by a lord lieut. high sheriff, and about 30 magistrates; and is part of Bangor diocese, in province of Canterbury. Real prop. (1815) 131,213l.,—('43) 251,044l., of which 53,189l. on mines and quarries; ditto rentals 95,267l. or 5s. 5 $\frac{1}{2}$ d. per acre (when wheat was 77s.), and 150,047l. or 8s. 7d. per acre (wheat 55s.). County income ('49) 5809l., of which 3405l. from co. rate (on a val. of 204,299l. made 1840), 2171l. from the treasury. Poor r. (yr. 1846-7) for 4 Unions 26,050l. on 174,175l. or 3s. in the £ (wheat being 59s.),—cases relieved 9087 (out-door 8676) in estimated pop. of 98,195. Total charities 2165l., of which 888l. for schools and education; savings bks. ('49) 2, with 16,515l. from 628 depositors; in yr. '38-9, 864m. of road (158 m. being turnpike) were maintained for 2167l. In '46-7 out of 63 pars. 48 had 74 church schools, supported by 2416l., with 5973 child. attending, and 96 paid teachers (17 being monitors) whose salaries were 1952l., and who had 35 teachers' houses; out of these, 17 were free schools and 7 sund. sch. (inclusively—with 178 teachers and 1223 child.); and 53 in union with the National Soc. had 4485 child. and total grants of 2000l. Offenders in '48, 60 (or 48 av. of 5 yrs.), of whom 33 were convicted, 12 were females, 0 under 15 yrs. of age, 14 could not read or write. For births, deaths, etc. see N. WALES. The lower Silurian or slaty formation prevails here, intersected by basalt and other igneous rocks, with a strip of mica slate on the coast S. of Porthdynllaen, another of limestone near Bangor (with thin coal strata on Menai Strait) and at Gt. Orme's Head. Between Penmaennau (1540 ft. high) and Yr Eifl or Rival (1868), near Nevin, is a rugged alpine range—once crowned with forests, and the last stronghold of the Britons against Edw. I.—in the middle of which the double-headed Snowdon, the Creigiau'r Eryri, or Eagle rocks of the Welsh, rises 3571 ft., at Yr Wyddfa, the highest or 'conspicuous' top, with a view which embraces Cader Idris, Irish Sea, Wicklow, I. of Man, Scottish and York hills, and 25 lakes at its base. Other peaks of this chain are: Carnedd David 9427 ft., Carn. Llewelyn 3469 ft., Moel Shabod 2878 ft., Moel Hebog 2584 ft., Clawd Goch 2473 ft., Graig Goch 2350 ft., Gyrn Goch 1713 ft., etc. Porphyry, basalt, with rag, chert, and whinstone, abound; blue slate at Dolawen quarry, red at Cilgwyn, near Llanlyfni, purplish at Dolbadern or Dinorwig—and much is shipped at Trevri, the quarries employing 2832 hands. At Nant Francon and Cwm Idwal stone for houses is found; copper (489 hands) is worked at Llanberis, Derwendeg near Gt. Orme's head, Capel Curig and Beddgelert; lead and zinc at Bwlch-haiairn near Gwydir, Gest near Penmorva, and Penrhyn-du near St. Tudwal's; millstone at Conway, and ochre near Dolawen; marine shells are found about Snowdon 1630 ft. above the sea; and many pebbles contain chalk flints. In the cwms or deep valleys around are 50 or 60 lakes, which supply many streams and falls towards the Menai or Conway;—the chief lakes are: Lyn-y-Cwn, the highest; L. Llanberis, with its castle, quarries, and a cromlech stone much larger than Bowderstone; L. Nanlle, L. Ogwen with the Benglog fall under Trevaen; L. Cawellyn under Myndd Mawr; L. Geirionedd, and fall, where Taliesin the bard lived; L. Conway;—some other falls or rhaiads are, B. Cwmlyli, R. Llygwy, R.-y-Wennol, and Rh. Machno. The best points for ascending Snowdon are Beddgelert near Pont-aberglaslyn pass, Capel Curig, Llanberis, and L. Cawellyn; and good views are had at these, and at Nant Gwynant pass and lyn (to which Vortigern and Merlin retired) and Penmaennau. Among the native plants, including 27 rare ones, are fern, maidenhair, Bryon, scurvy-grass, cranesbill, honeywort, liverwort and other lichens, crowfoot, gillyflower, rue, speedwell, alpine violet, etc.; wolves and deer have disappeared with the forest, but foxes and large goats are found, with golden eagle (rare) and rock ousel. The upland district of Lleyn to SW. is like Anglesea in character; it is chiefly pasture for the small native black cattle and sheep, which in summer ascend the mountains to feed, and descend as the cold season comes on. A little wheat is grown in the light soil by the sea; but the chief crops are oats, potatoes, and barley. The people are long-lived and simple in their habits; they live on oat-bread and goats' flesh, the dairies furnishing cheese and butter, and they make flannel for the markets. Horses are good, and the ugly native pig is improved by crossing with Berkshire. Many houses are built in a rough way of stone and clay slate; but the cottages are mean, and the fences of stone. Herrings are caught on the coast; paper, druggets and yarn are made at Tremadoc and Llanrug. Caerhyn is the roman Conovium and the Toisobius or Conway, where pearl mussels are found, and Carnarvon is Segontium. There are remains of camps or forts at Diganwy, one of the earliest seats of the welsh princes, Dolbenmaen, Trer Caeri on Yr Eifi, Dinas Dinorwig, Din. Dinlle, and Braich-y-Dinas; of castles at Carnarvon and Conway—two of the finest in the kingdom—and also at Dolbadern and Criccieth, where lived Sir Howell-y-Fwyal (i. e. of the battleaxe), who helped to take the French king at Poitiers. Bardsey, near the Pr. Cancanorum, has remains of its culdee abbey; of Maenan only an arch is left; there is a large church at Clynog where St. Beuno settled; cromlechs at Bacheren, Ystym Cegid, Cefn Amlwch, Penmorfa, and Ymeinau hirion, near Braich-y-Dinas. This country was the last held by Llewellyn, on whose defeat Edw. I., after ascending Snowdon, held a tournament at Nevin 1284. The seats, etc. are: Lord Newborough Glynllifon Pk., Ld. Gwydir G. Hall, Ld. Mostyn Gloddaeth, Williams, Bt. Nant Hall, Pennant of Penrhyn Cast., Smith of Vaenol, Mrs. Finch of Cefn Amlwch, Parry of Mudryn, Edwards of Nanthoran, Griffiths of Llanvair, Thomas of Coed Helen, Carreg of Tamyr allt, Lenthal of Maenan. Roads from Carnarvon: 1. To Britannia Bridge 5 m., Menai Br. 6, Bangor 8, along Chest. and Holyhd. rail. to Penmaenmawr 18, Conway 23, thence to Chester 64. 2. Cast. Dolbadern under Snowdon 8, Capel Curig 16, Llanrwst 22, thence to Denbigh 89. 3. to Bettws Garmon 4, Llyn Cewellyn under Snowdon 8, Beddgelert 12, Tremadoc 18; or by Glynllifon and Dolbenmaen 16. 4. along the coast to Glynllifon 6, Nevin 19 (thence to Pwllheli 25), Aberdaron 31, and Bardsey Sound 34.

* P. M. A. CARNARVON (78) or Caer-yr-ar-Fôn (i. e. the fort opposite Mon or Anglesea), Llanbeblig par. Isgorvai hund. W. Carnarv. 235 m. from London (or 239 through Bangor on Holyhd. rail.), the county, assize, sessions, election, and polling town, militia head qrs. a bonding-port and bathing-place, in a fine spot on Menai Strait, at the R. Seiont's mouth,—the roman Segontium on the Sarn Helen, Caer Custeint, or Constantine's fort, of the Welsh, who say that he lived here, was for a while the seat of Cadwallo and other N. Wales princes till 873, when they went back to Aberffraw; was taken by Edw. I., who (1282) built the walls and began the castle, 1224, the same year, in which his son Edw. II., the first 'Prince of Wales' was born; blockaded 1402 by O. Glyndwr, and occupied by both parties in the civil wars, till secured for the puritans by Gen. Mytton, 1648;—has returned one member to Parl. from Hen. VIII.'s time, the limits being unaltered by the Reform bill,—no. of electors (including Bangor, Conway, Criccieth, Nevin, Pwllheli contributory boroughs) 877 (of 101. houses 5017), and chief influence with Marq. of Anglesea; was chartered by Edw. I., and by the new act divided into two wards, with reduced limits, governed by mayor (who is constable of the castle), 6 ald., 8 council,—with the style of "mayor, bailiffs, and burgesses of town and boro' of C.," and revenue of 3041. Size of parl. boro' about 8 m. in circuit,—of municipal boro', one-sixth; pop. 8601, in the fisheries, coasting, and foreign trade; houses 1592, in narrow but regular streets, with 7 chapels, county hall, co. prison (one of the cast. towers), town hall on E. gate of the walls, mkt. house, 2 banks, custom-house, baths near the nat. hist. soc. Of the noble castle, b. 1284-1320 by Hen. de Elreton, and lately repaired, which consists of two courts covering 2½ acres, and is held by Marq. of Anglesea, there are remains of the gateway with a figure of Edw. I., the Queen's gate,—Eagle tower where they say Edw. II. was born (though it was not finished till 1316-7) with its 3 turrets and 158 steps, commanding the best view,—the walls 8 to 10 ft. thick, round which a gallery went, with thirteen 5, 6, and 8-sided turrets. The town walls still exist with bastions and two gates. Outside are traces of the roman city, which covered about 7 acres, where walls of a fort are seen, tiles, coins, etc., have been found, and whence a road went to Dinas Denlle camp, and the Sarn Helen ran southwards. A pier and landing-slip have improved the harbour off the Bell tower, beyond which is anchorage in 4 fath., but it is obstructed by Aber sand outside Menai Strait, where Llanddwyn point has a fixed light. In 1816, 159 sail of 9614 tons (90 being under 50 t. each) belonged to the port, which has Pwllheli, Barmouth, Port Madoc, Porthdynllaen, for supports, and the tonnage Inwards and Outwards including repeated voyages, was 'coastwise' 1314 sail of 48,447 and 334 of 11,635 tons (besides 40 steamers of 5084 and 64 of 9435 t.),—from and to 'colonies,' 23 of 3418 and 24 of 3215 t.,—from and to 'foreign ports' 7 of 1123 and 45 of 4404 t. (besides 3 foreigners of 361 t. Outw.); total customs 72171.—the exports (val. —1.) being in slate and copper brought down Llanllynf rail.—and imports (val. —1.) timber, coal, etc. Across the steam-ferry, which is 2 m. over, are David's Fort, Ld. Newborough; Plas Newydd, Marq. of Anglesea, near Menai Bridge. Tŵrhill has a fine prospect, and not far are Llanddwyn Abbey, Llanberis, and Snowdon. Coed Helm, T. Rice, Esq. Gives title of earl to the Herberts. *Carn. P. L. * P. M. A. * CASHEL city (61) Middle Third bar. Mid. Tipperary, 14 NW. of Clonmel, 100 from Dublin, near Gt. S. West. rail., under the Rock of Cashel, in the 'golden vale', near R. Suir, the ancient seat of the kings of Munster and of an archbishopric, now of a diocese, is a sessions town, chief police station, and a boro' returning one member to parl. (2 before the Union), the no. of electors being 159 (of 10L houses 340); and is governed by a body of commissioners, who have superseded the old corporation (chartered by Ch. I.), with a revenue of 1478L, partly from 2024 acres of land granted by Abp. Marianus 1229. Acres of boro', 4018,—of city 254; pop. 8027, and 7036 + 6, with no manufactures and little trade; houses 1241, most of them thatched and mean, with the new cathedral or par. church, 6 chapels, archbp.'s palace (now the Deanery) with a clerical library attached, county court-house, gaol and infirmary, town-hall, mkt. house, charter school (now a private house), national and other schools, bank, water-works supplied from a distance of 3 m. savings bk. (6108L from 198 depositors), loan fund, fever hosp. and Union poor house. Living, a Rect. (Ca. E. W. L.), with 2 others attached to the Deanery, val. 433L, patr. Bishop. On the rock, where stood the palace of the Munster kings, and a church built by St. Patrick, whose effigy is here, are the venerable remains of Cormac's chapel, a rich norman specimen 53 ft. long, b. by king Cormac Macarthy 1134, with some frescoes first discovered by archdn. Cotton, who took great pains to restore the pile; the old early eng. cathedral, 210 ft. by 170, by king Donald O'Brien, 1169, with a mon. to abp. Macgrian, and which was used till 1745; abp. Hedrian's vicars' choral hall (1421) and episcopal palace; abp. McGarrill's cistercian abbey, 1260; the tribute stone; and a round tower of freestone, 90 ft. high, 56 girth. A little to the W. is Hore Abbey, also founded by McGarrill 1272; and in the town is an old friary. At this place Hen. II. had the kingdom of Ireland confirmed to him by Pope Alexander 1172; subsequently, in the conquests between the Butlers and Fitzgeralds, the Earl of Kildare burnt the cathedral, with the excuse that "he would not have thought of committing such a sacrilege, but he was told of a certainty that the archbp. was in it;" and in 1647 it was taken by Ld. Inchiquin for parliament. The archdiocese now merged into a bishopric, comprehended the dioceses of Cashel, Emly, Limerick, Ardferit and Aghadoc, Waterford, Lismore, Cork, Ross, Cloyne, Killaloe, and Kilfenora, including the whole of Munster, with parts of Kilky., King's Co., and Galway. C. CAVAN (44 sheets) an inland county in S. Ulster, N. Ireland, once a seat of the Erdini of Ptolemy (by the Irish called Ernaigh), and made shire ground by Ld. Deputy Perrot 1584, belonged with the name of Hy Breifne to the O'Reillys, a sept of the O'Nials, dispossessed by the 'Undertakers' at the plantation of Ulster by Jas. I., — is at the head of the Erne, Shannon, and Blackwater, and bordered by Fermanagh and Monaghan (N. and NE.), Meath (SE.), Westmeath (S.), Longfd. (SW.), Leitrim (W.). Length, from Killenagh to Mullagh, 56 m., greatest breadth 23, av. ditto 13, circuit 160; relative size 229-10,000ths. It contains 746 sq. m. or 477,360 acres, — of which 375,473 are arable, 7325 in plantation, 71,918 uncultivated bog, mountain, etc., 22,142 in lakes, etc., 502 in towns; 42,592 families, of whom 31,887, or 75 per cent., live by agricult., 8338, or 20 per cent., by manufact. trade, etc., 780 independent and professions, 28,337 manual labour, 34,735 in 3rd and 4th, or lowest class houses; 243,158+1522 persons, mostly english speaking, of whom 8244 are in Cavan, Cootehill, Belturbet, 122,344 are females, 126,988 under 20 yrs. of age, 235,711 county-born; 40,964 houses, besides 1419 empty and building; 8 baronies, Upper Loughtee (Mid.), Low Loughtee (N.), Tullygarrey (NE), Clonkee (E.), Castlerahan (SE.), Clonmahon (S.), Tullyhunco (W.), Tullyhaw (NW.); 30 parishes (of which Templeport is largest, 41,172 ac.), and parts of 7 others; 14 market houses — Cavan co. town, etc. as below, Cootehill, Bailieboro', Ballyconnell, Arvagh, Belturbet, Killeshandra, Ballyjamesduff, Ballinagh, Ballyhaise, Kingscourt, Stradone, Shercock, Virginia, — the first three being poor law Unions, the first four q. sessions towns, the first eight (except Ballyconnell) with Swanlinbar police districts (39 stations, and 419 men), — and there are 4 fever hosps. and 21 dispensaries; returns two members to parl. for county (instead of four for the disfranchised boroughs of Cavan and Belturbet), with 731 electors; is governed by a lord lieut. and custos, vice lieut., 12 deputy lieuts., and about 75 magistrates; is in the NW. circuit, the N. military district (with stations at Arvagh, Ballyconnell, Killeshandra), and Kilmore diocese (with parts in Ardagh and Meath), province of Armagh. Gross rental (1846) 334,699*l.* or 14*s.* 8*d.* per acre; val. to poor r. 274,754*l.*; county rate ('48) 28,359*l.* Savings bks. Channel, The, or British or English Channel, between England and France, called 'La Manche,' i. e. the Sleeve, by the French, and Oceanus Britannicus by the Romans, stretches from a line from Dover to C. Grisez (18 m. long) to one from the Land's End to Roches de Porcal (97 m.) near Aber-vach, washes the coasts of Kent, Sussex, Hants. Dorset. Devon. Cornwall, includes the Channel Islds., I. of Wight, Scilly islds., and contains about 23,900 geog. sq. m. A line at the mouth, or 'chops,' from 49° 20' N. (the parallel where ships usually enter) to the middle of Straits of Dover, lies WSW. ¼ W. and ENE. ¼ E., and is 280 m. long. Greatest breadth (Sidmouth to St. Malo) 128 m., average above Beachy Head 88, thence to Portland 67, and below it 83,—general average 70. At the Straits, where the submarine telegraph crosses, a chalk ridge (12 to 30 fath. deep) shooting up at the Ridge and Varne banks (only 1½ to 4 fath.) joins the two countries,—thence the depths gradually increase to 60 fath. down the Channel (as well as up the N. Sea) interrupted by the E. and W. Vergoyer banks (3 to 5 fath.) off Boulogne, and several hollows (5 to 30 fath. deeper than the neighbouring parts) called the W., NW., S. and Hurd's, Deep (about lat. 50° N., and long. 0° to 3° W.)—the bottom throughout being chiefly coarse gravelly ground. In-shore the depths are 15 to 22 fath. to Dungeness, 12 to 22 to Beachy, 15 to 55 to Prawle Point, 35 to 45 to the Lizard. Length of the English coast about 890 m., with several good harbours, and lights at S. Foreland, Dungeness, Beachy, Owers, and Bembridge (floating), Needles (469 ft. high), St. Alban's Head, Portland, Start Point, Eddystone, Lizard, Longships, Seven Stones (floating), Scilly; the French coast is 510 m., with one tolerable haven at Havre, a strongly fortified dockyard at Cherbourg, inside a breakwater of 2½ m.; and lights at C. Grisez, Cayeux, la Heve, Dieppe, Barfleur, Cherbourg, La Hogue, the Caskets or Casquets, Fregel, Heaux de Brehat, Isle Bas, Ushant. Old forts of Hen. VIII. and Eliz. are at Dover, Calshot, Southsea, Hurst, Portland, Weymo', etc.; and the flat coasts of Kent and Sussex between Eastwear bay and Seaford are defended by 74 martello towers, b. in the late war—they are of brick, round, 40 ft. diam. (at bottom, 30 at top), 30 high, bomb-proof, and mounted with a swivel, and are about ¼ m. apart. Along the english side are Dover (anc. Portus Dubris) with its harb., breakwater, and Castle hill (460 ft. of chalk); Folkstone hill, 575 ft. (chalk); Roar and Swallow banks in E. Bay; Dungeness; Rye harb. at R. Rother's mouth (Portus Novus) and Stephenson's bank, in W. Bay; Winchelsea and Hastings (cliffs about 230 ft. high); Beachy Head (532 ft.) at the end of the S. Chalk Downs, with the Rattan, Sovereign, and Holywell shoals off it; Newhaven at R. Ouse's mouth; Brighton, Shoreham harb., Littlehampton at R. Arun's mouth; Mixon and Wolstoner's shoals near Selsea Bill; St. Helen's, the Princessa, and other shoals near I. of Wight; Spithead and Portsmouth (Portus Magnus) under Portsdown hill (440 ft.); Southampton Water (Trisanton) at R. Anton or Test's mouth; Lymington in R. Solent; Christchurch at R. Avon's, Poole harb. at R. Frome's mouth; Weymouth; Portland Bill (458 ft.) or Vindelia Prom. where a breakwater is making, with the Shambles shoal off it; Bridport and Lyme Regis Harbs.; Axmouth at R. Axe's mouth (Alenus), Sidmouth; Exmouth and Exeter on R. Ex (Iaeca), Teignmouth; Torbay near Bury Hd. (Hellenis Prom.); Dartmouth on R. Dart; Start Point near the Skerries shoal; Prawle Point, Bolt Head and Tail, Bigbury bay; Plymouth and breakwater at R. Tamar's mouth (Tamarus) near the Rame Hd. Chalk, green sands, wealdon clay, etc. are found to Steyning and in I. of Wight; clay to Studland; chalk, purbeck stone, etc. to Lulworth; round Portland to Lyme, oolite and lias (where saurians have been found); green sands, etc. thence to Beer Head, where the last chalk is seen; keuper sandstone, new and old red sandst. to Start Point; old red sandst. with trap (at the Lizard, etc.); and granite, to the Land's End. The Scilly Islds. are granite. Outside the Channel the depths increase to 200 fath. at the edge of the Bank, of Soundings. High water at full and change, at Dover xi. o'clock, off Brighton xi. ¾, off Spithead xi. ¾, off Needles x. ¾, at Channel Islds. ix., off Portland ix. ¾, off Torbay ix., off Eddystone vii. ¾, off Lizard viii., off Scilly vi. ¾.

Channels Islands, the last remnant of the dukedom of Normandy belonging to England, lie off the coast of Brittany France, in the Channel where the tides meet, and comprise Jersey bailiwick and that of Guernsey, which includes Alderney (the nearest to both coasts), Serq, Herm, Jethou, Le Marchant, and Caskets; were known by name to the Romans as Casarea, Lernia, Arica, etc.; granted (550) by Childebert to Archbp. Sampson (a Saxon), who built a chapel at Sampson's harb. (Jer.), and with his successor St. Magliore helped to spread Christianity; ravaged (850 to 900) by the northmen, who murdered St. Helier in his cell near St. Helier's (Jer.); granted (912) by Chas. IV. to Rollo, 1st duke of Normandy, who gave Guern. to Sampson d'Anneville and fortified St. Michael's castle against the Danes; came to the english crown on the death of Rob. Curthose (who built Mount Orgueil), and were given by Rich. I. to John, who, upon the death of his nephew Arthur, lost all Normandy except the islds.; were invaded by the French (Edw. I.), also (Edw. III.) when they took Castle Cornet, and Mt. Orgueil was besieged by Du Guesclin the conqueror of Sicily, —also (Hen. IV.) and (Hen. VI.) when Pierre de Freye took them by treachery, but they were recovered (Edw. IV.) by Phil. de Carteret and Sir H. Harliston, —again (Edw. VI.) when they took Cerg, which was retaken by stratagem; became the home of many refugee protestants after the Reformation, which took deep root here —and though the liturgy is used, the discipline is almost presbyterian; were governed in Elizabeth's time by the great Raleigh, who built the college and opened the Newfoundland fisheries; sided with Chas. I. and were defended by Carteret and Osborne against Blake, etc., but being given up, were governed by 12 commissioners; attacked by the French, May 1779, when the prince of Nassau with 5000 attempting St. Ouen and Brelade bays were driven off, and their fleet destroyed by Wallace; and again, 1781, when 1200 men under Rullecourt surprised the lieutenant-gov. by night, and took St. Helier's, but were routed by the militia, with the death of their leaders Pierson and Muleaster. Pop. 76,065 +1, of whom 39,208 are in St. Helier's and Peter le Porte, 41,520 are females, 32,811 under 20 yrs. of age, and 54,599 island-born; houses 11,212, besides 663 empty and building. Parishes 24, all rectories, making a deanery in dioc. of Winton, and each managed by a constable (or magistrate) with 2 substitutes or centeniers, and 12 vintaniers, etc. The substratum is gneiss and sienite, or dark granite, with some manganese, and lead containing silver (in Serq). Climate mild and equable, with a mean temp. of 53°. Whiting, flatfish, conger, lobsters, oysters (St. Catherine's bay) are found in the sea, which has from 5 to 30 fath. at low water, and is covered with rocks and shoals, where the tide (which rises 41 ft.) runs very strongly. Around Jersey are the Minquiers, Grelets, Videt, Anquette, Bœuffin, Château, Ecrehou, Dirouailles, Paternoster, Rigdon, Grand, and other banks; the Deroute chan. divides it from Guernsey, which has about it the Hanois, Lihou, Bray, and the Aufroque and other shoals in the Gt. and Little Russel channels (next Herm and Serq); near Alderney is the Race in the Chan. towards Cape la Hogue light, through which the tide rushes 7 m. an hour, —also the Blanchard, Noire Putes, Chole, Susurouais banks, and the Ortach or Burhou, which has the Passage du Singe or 'Swinge' on one side, and on the other the Pommier and Casquets, with a revolving light seen 15 m. Laver and samphire are found on the rocks; and sea-weed, or vraic, gathered for fuel and manure. By the feudal constitution of John, the government is in the hands of the queen in council, with a governor, who still has large nominal powers, and a resident lieutenant-gov. The forms of law are grounded on the old Norman practice, and a majority of the jury convict in criminal cases. The judicial courts at Jers. and Guern. are composed of a bailiff or president appointed by the crown, 12 jurats for life chosen by the people, and the attorney and solicitor-general and vicompte or sheriff, —from whom, except in murder, there is no appeal; they hold four courts, viz. of 'Heritage,' for property cases, —'Chattels,' for rents, bankruptcy, etc., which is also the criminal court, —'Roll,' for relief of the other two courts, —and the 'Samedi,' or Saturday, for minor cases of assault, etc. For the States of Assembly, see JERSEY and GUERNSEY. All men between 19 and 65 yrs. are trained in the militia, which has a battery of artillery, and is commanded by the lieutenant-gov. Gavel-kind custom prevails, by which the best house and part of the land goes to the eldest son, 2-3rds of the rest equally among the other sons, and 1-3rd to the daughters. In consequence of intermarriages to keep property in the family many idiots are seen. The language is a sort of Norman patois. By a papal bull no island merchant ship could be made a prize, which was recognised by France down to Will. III.; and there are other privileges peculiar to the islds. Convicts were transported to England. Remains of old castles are to be seen, and poqueleys or druid cromlechs, which are properly Scandinavian. In 1846, 440 sail of 41,907 tons (166 being under 50 t. each) and 1 steamer of 39 t. belonged to the islds. and the tonnage Inwards and Outwards, including repeated voyages, was from 'colonies' 2 sail of 197 tons —from and to 'foreign ports' 928 sail of 30,768, and 865 of 28,548 t., besides 142 steamers of 10,621 and 139 of 10,321 t., and 195 foreigners of 18,352 and 188 of 17,921 t.

Real prop. (1815) 1,114,927*l.* ('43) 1,889,937*l.*, of which 39,722*l.* on mines, 3765*l.* on quarries, 24,974*l.* on canals and rail; ditto rentals 724,627*l.* or 21*s.* 6*d.* per acre (when wheat was 7*s.*), and 962,857*l.* or 28*s.* 7*d.* per acre (wheat 5*s.*); county income ('48) 47,729*l.*, of which 5367*l.* from co. rate (on a val. of 103,168*l.* made 1835), 1609*l.* from police r., 8553*l.* from treasury, 24,000*l.* from R. Weaver Trustees. Poor r. (yr. 1846-7) for 9 unions 80,332*l.* on 1,574,273*l.* or 1*s.* in the £ (wheat being 5*s.*), cases relieved 31,012 (out-door 27,211) in estimated pop. of 382,775. Total charities 11,632*l.*, of which 3681*l.* for schools and education (2208*l.* for gram. sch.); savings bks. ('49) 12, with 647,168*l.* from 17,667 depositors; in yr. '38-9, 2396 m. of road (431 m. being turnpike) were maintained for 28,541*l.* In '46-7, out of 192 pars. 184 had 419 church schools, supported by 16,384*l.*, with 35,856 child. attending, and 518 paid teachers (52 being monitors), whose salaries were 12,602*l.* and who had 154 teachers' houses; out of these 14 were free schools, and 52 sund. sch. (exclusively, — with 1649 teachers and 13,583 child.); and 195 in union with the National Soc. had 22,498 child. and total grants of 13,152*l.* Offenders in '48, 1070 (or 835 av. of 5 yrs.), of whom 812 were convicted, 209 were females, 49 under 15 yrs. of age, 371 could not read or write. Following the Sup. Registry districts of '45 (total pop. 368,400 + 5155) the 'births' were 12,737, of whom 6270 were females, 1188 or 9·3 per cent. illegit.; 'deaths' 8450 or 1 in 44, — the all-England av. being 46; 'marriages' 2927 (at church 2747), of which

2777 persons or 45·6 per cent. signed with marks. Except a line of sandstone hills on the E. border from Congleton past Alderley Edge (which has a fine view towards Yorksh.) in which coal is found, and another from Malpas to Frodsham, more than 4-5ths of the surface is flat, well wooded, and enclosed, and chiefly grazing and dairy ground — the soil being marl with clay, sand, peat on a red sandstone bottom, and very fertile in the Vale Royal, of which there is a good prospect from Beeston Castle — a solitary rock of 366 ft. visible all round as far as Liverpool. Potatoes (average 10 tons per acre), oats, wheat (less than formerly), turnips are raised, but the chief produce is cheese, of which about 11,500 to 12,500 tons are sent to all parts of Engld. and Europe, each weighing from 60 to 140 lb. Stock of short-horned and other cows 100,000, yielding annually per head 2400 quarts of milk and 300 lb. of cheese; sheep 65,000, and 1250 packs of wool. System of husbandry backward, but improving; leases run 11 yrs., but the av. size of farms is under 100 acres, and the estates are large. Moss, turf, now replace the forests which existed at Delamere, the Wirral, etc. but oak timber abounds. The manufactures employ 51,481 persons, — the chief being cotton, calico, fustian, and tape (31,279 hands), and silk and ribbons (15,547), at Stockport, Macclesfield, Congleton, Sandbach, Knutsford, Tarporley (leather breeches), besides leather, thread, gloves, stockings, at some of these places, — in 1847, a bad year, 38,106, 108, 14,169 were employed in the cotton, woollen, and silk-mills respectively. Salt (688 hands) from the mines and brine springs along the Weaver, at Nantwich (the roman Salina), Middlewich, Winsford, and Northwich, where 60,000 tons yearly are got from the mines, and 45,000 from springs — Marston salt mine being 35 acres large, and 250 ft. under ground. Other mines (1725 hands) are: coal at Dukinfield — copper, lead, cobalt, at Alderley — ironstone, Stockport — coal, Macclesfield and Parkgate — lime and millstone at Mole Cop (1091 ft. high). — The lakes or meres are: Egerton, Budworth, etc. but of no consequence. — Of native plants are: asplenium scolopendrium fingered hart's tongue, melampyrum arvense, saxifraga autumnalis yellow lengreen, at or near Beeston Cast; comarum palustre marsh cinquefoil, myrica gale dutch myrtle, narcissus poeticus daffodil, osmunda regalis water fern, pinguicula vulgaris butterwort, sorbus or wild ash, tanacetum or tansy, vacinium oxycoccus whortleberry, — all near Bellow Hill and moors about Whitchurch. Of about 20 religious there are remains of Birkenhead and Rock Savage priories; also of Haulton and Beeston castles; in Delamere forest is the chamber or lodge standing on Ethelfleda's or Eddisbury camp, and many tumuli, barrows, etc. are to be found at Prestbury, which, as well as Mottram, has a curious old church. Nixon, the Cheshire prophet, was born at Over; Bp. Wilson at Burton in Wirral, Bp. Heber at Malpas; Holinshed and Speed were also county born; at Calvely lived Sir Hugh, who fought at Poitiers, etc., and at Shotwick (which has traces of a castle) Mary Davies, whose picture with horns growing out of her head is in the Brit. Museum; the Duttons of Dutton have or had jurisdiction over the minstrels, pipers, etc. of the county; and Milton's widow died at Nantwich 1726. At Rowton Heath Chas. I. was defeated 1645 by Poyntz; and Lyme park has a small breed of white cattle like the Earl of Tankerville's. Seats, etc.: Marq. Cholmondeley C. Castle, Marq. Westminster Eaton Hall, Visct. Assd. taxes 87,732l.; poor r. 6778l. on 57,933l.; real prop. 87,702l., of which 6449l. on quarries; charities 2478l., of which Owen Jones's 466l., Oldfield's for apprenticing 405l., Broughton's 131l. Livings are, St. Bridget with St. Martin Rect. (Ches.) val. 150l., patr. Bishop; St. J. Baptist Vic. 237l., Marquis of Westminster, — church, once cruciform with a broken tower which fell 1574, on the site of Etheldred's abbey founded 906, is in part early norman with heavy pillars 5½ ft. in girth, was made collegiate and for a time the head of Lichfield diocese of which Chester was part, and has part of a lady chapel and a mon. of Falconer a native and a scholar; St. Michael and St. Olave Curs. 84l. and 89l., and St. Peter Rect. 120l., patr. of all, Bishop; these are within the city: partly without are, St. Mary-on-the-Hill Rect. 322l., Marq. of Westminster, — ch. early eng. with mons. of the Birkenheads, the four Holmeses antiquaries of Nunhill, and others; Holy Trinity Rect. 290l., Earl of Derby, — ch. has mons. of Parnell and Mat. Henry, whose chapel and pulpit still remain (in King St.); Little St. John Cur. 164l., Corporation; St. Oswald Rect. with Bruera Cur. 245l., Dean and Chap. — ch. is S. transept of cathedral; besides which are St. Paul Cur. 150l., Vicar of St. John's; Christ Church Cur. 100l., Bishop. The Cathedral, a heavy crumbling sandstone pile which requires frequent repair, is 348 ft. by 180, in decorated and later eng. styles, with nave and tower (127 ft.) b. 1485 by Abbots Ripley and Oldham, a fine W. front finished 1508 about the date of the choir; it contains some stone stalls in the chancel, St. Werburgh's shrine, now the Bp.'s throne, carved and adorned with little figures of merican kings and saints, cartoon of Raphael on tapestry, brass of F. Aldersey and mons. of dean Smith translator of Xenophon, etc., and Archd. Travia. Within the precincts are remains of the abbey gate, the Bishop's palace built 1753, deanery on site of St. Thomas's, norman crypt under the prebendaries' houses, refectory now gram. school, cloisters, and a beautiful early eng. chapter-house, 50 ft. by 26 and 35 high (with a vestibule 33 by 27), b. 1128 by Randle 4th earl, where he and other earls and abbots were buried, and where 1724, the body of the 1st earl was found in a stone coffin. Within the castle which is held by patent, and of which the only original part remaining is Julius Cæsar's (or Agricola's) tower, containing a chapel (with some frescoes), in which Jas. II. heard mass, was Hugh Lupus's hall, a fine piece of antiquity, 95 ft. by 45, pulled down 1786. In the armoury are 30,000 stand of arms and 90 cannon. The ancient walls which are 1½ m. 101 yds. in circuit, railed in at top where there is a walk broad enough for two persons, and commanding fine views of the country, the Wirral, and the Welsh hills, were guarded by towers (b. 1422) of which the Phoenix and Water towers still exist, and passes over the four city gates, — Eastgate (where Watling St. or Via Devana came in, and which was a genuine roman remain till replaced 1768), Northgate built 1810, Bridgate 1782, Watergate 1778, and a fifth or postern. The celebrated 'Chester Mysteries' or Scripture Plays, composed in latin about 1250-60 by Randle a monk, and afterwards turned into english, were acted in the church by the city companies, for the edification of christian people; they were 25 in number, beginning with the Creation and ending with the Judgment. Besides the above foundations, there was a priory burnt 1118, a benedictine monastery, and 3 friaries. A statue of Pallas, some fine altars, baths — especially an entire one under the Plume of Feathers inn, — pavements and other roman remains have been found. Dr. Cowper (of Overleigh, an old seat with portraits of the Cromwells), Sir J. Vanbrugh (1666-1726), Molyneux and Brerewood the mathematicians, Bradshaw an early poet, Higden who wrote 'Polychronicon,' Dean Whittingham translator of the Geneva Bible, Kynaston and Downham divines, were natives; it supports the 'C. Chronicle,' 'C. Courant,' and 'Farmer's Herald' newspapers; and gives title to a herald. Part of the Ellesmere canal 9 m. long, cut by Telford 1806, unites Chester with the Mersey; another part of 20 m. cut 1778, goes to Nantwich. The river which runs red apparently from passing through the red sandstone, has been improved by cutting a new channel to the sea, and admits vessels of 350 tons — but the mouth is obstructed by shifting sands. In 1846, 117 sail of 6251 tons (59 being under 50 t. each) and 6 steamers of 385 t. (3 under 50 t.) belonged to the port, which has Bagilt, Flint, Mostyn, Rhuddlan, Wehra, for subports; and the tonnage Inwards and Outwards, including repeated voyages, was 'coastwise' 1078 sail of 52,139 and 2571 of 115,177 tons (besides 6 steamers of 385 t. Inw. and Outw.), — from and to 'colonies' 12 of 2939 and 6 of 1579 t. — from and to 'foreign ports' 3 of 470 and 5 of 490 t. (besides 23 foreigners of 4816 and 2 of 160 t.); total customs 94,264l.; exports, cheese, etc. A rail. of 21 m. with 4 stations runs to Crewe, and forms a branch of the N. Western; another of 15 m. with 10 stations goes to Birkenhead; one of 61½ m. to Shrewsbury through Wrexham; and one is projected to Wolverhampton. Eaton Hall, seat of Marq. of Westminster. Chest. and Holyhead rail. of 84½ m. made 1845-50, by R. Stephenson, goes from the station (a joint one for all the rails., b. by Thomson for 220,000*l.*, with a city front of 1010 ft., a passenger range of 1160 ft., good iron roof by Wyld, etc.), along the coast near Telford's road, past Flint 12½ m., Holywell 16½, Rhyl 30, Abergely 25½, Penmaen Rhos tunnel (1629 ft.), Conway tubular br. 45½ (814 ft.), Penmaenmawr 50, R. To the N. is the Ochill range, consisting of granite and schistose rock, rising 2359 ft. at Ben Cleugh, the highest point; along the river are the rich and fruitful carse or fen lands; the rest of the surface is hilly. Coal (employing 620 hands), ironstone (115 hands), basalt, etc. are abundant, lead is found at Dollar, traces of copper and silver at Logie. Husbandry and the condition of farmers much improved, leases run 19 yrs. or longer, good mutton is pastured on the Ochills; corn, beans, etc. are the prevailing crops. The chief manufactures are seated at Alloa, where good ale is brewed — muslin, camlets, and glass are made, and ship-building and a thriving coasting-trade carried on; wool (961 hands) is spun at Tillicoultry, and there are iron works at Alloa, and Newtonshaw. In 1847, a bad year, 2019 were engaged in woollen factories. Excellent trout and salmon are caught in the Forth, which is remarkable in fine weather at neaps, for two tides in 12 hrs.; and its inches or islands produce plenty of wild fowl. On the Devon is the Cauldron Linn fall in a fine spot of country. Remains of a druid circle are found at Tillicoultry. At Clackmannan is Bruce's Tower; at Alloa the old tower of the Erskines; and at Dollar (the seat of an excellent academy) is Cast. Campbell of the Argylls, burnt by Montrose 1641. Among other mineral springs is a holy well at Dumyatt hill. M. Bruce, author of Lochleven, was schoolmaster at Clackmannan; and Donaldson 'king of the Muirs,' who had the adventure with the gudeman of Ballingneich (Jas. V.), was a farmer near Alloa. A. CLERKENWELL, St. James par. Finsbury div. of Ossulstone hund. E. Middlsex. 1 m. N. of St. Paul's, the co. sessions court, and place of election for Finsbury boro', so called from the well near the pump in Ray St., round which the London parish clerks in old times acted religious plays or mysteries, — lies between the Charter House and St. Sepulchre Without, Ray St., Lower road and Chapel St. Pentonville, and Goswell St., — includes St. John Street, New Road, New River head, House of Correction, etc., — and is celebrated for the benedictine nunnery found. (on site of St. James's) about 1100 by Jordan Brisset and his wife Muriel, — but especially for the priory, or commandry, found. 1110 by the same, for the Knights Hospitallers in St. John's Square, — of which the only memorial is the venerable gate (lately restored), of which a cut has figured on the covers of the 'Gentleman's Magazine' for more than a century. Acres 320, very uneven but healthy, with several mineral springs or wells, used formerly by invalids; pop. 56,756 + 912, — of whom 887 were employed in the several branches of clock and watch manufacture, 859 were jewellers, goldworkers, enamellers; houses 6953, with 6 squares (as below), 5 churches, several chapels, sessions house on C. Green (b. 1778-82 by Rogers, instead of Hicks's Hall), county house of correction on Howard's plan (1794) which cost 70,000l., — new prison, now called house of detention, on the separate system, for prisoners awaiting trial, — Lady Owen's free gram. school and almsh. found. 1613, and lately reb. in elizabethan style, — the Friends' school, par. school for 1000 (140l.), Pentonville school (63l.), Finsbury dispensary, London female penitentiary (1807-12) for 100 women, Lond. female mission house, workhouse, Sadler's Wells theatre where Grimaldi performed, G.-police station and court at Bagnigge wells, Nicholson's and other distilleries, Reid's brewery; poor r. 14,283l. on 183,529l.; real prop. 803,090l., of which 67,600l. on New River; charities 659l., of which Stode's 125l. Livings, and districts are: St. James (the mother church) Cur. with Pentonville chply. (Lond.) val. 270l., patr. Inhabitants, — church, b. 1788-92, on site of the nunnery church, in which Lady I. Sackville the last prioress, Weaver author of "Funeral Monuments," Bp. Burnet, Britton the musical "small coalman," were buried; St. John Rect. 260l., Id. Chancellor, — ch., on site of the priory, was one of Q. Anne's 50 new churches, and has the old crypts underneath; St. Mark Cur. 535l., Bishop, — ch. b. 1828 for 16,000l.; St. Philip Cur. 450l., Incumbent of St. Mark's, — ch. in Granville Sq. The lord prior was head of his order, and took precedence of all lay barons. The gate-house, now the Jerusalem tavern, was Cave's printing-office, where the Gentleman's Mag. first appeared 1781; Johnson and Goldsmith who wrote for it, made their house of call the Baptist's Head, which belonged to Judge Forster, and was so called after Sir Baptist Hicks (the founder of the Noels), who b. the first Hicks's Hall 1612 in St. John Street. At Britton's house in Jerusalem passage Dubourg and Handel frequently played. Burnet had a double-fronted house in St. John's square; Sir T. Challoner had one in the Close in which it is said Cromwell lived; at Albemarle or Newcastle House, in N. Place, the mad duchess of Montague died, after living at the house which became the British Museum. Aylesbury Ho., which belonged to the priory, was given to the Bruces; and Northampton Ho., on the site of that square, was a seat of the Comptons. The Red Bull theatre of Elizabeth's time was in Woodbridge St.; Hockley-in-the-Hole bear garden, in Ray St.; the Cobham's head (re-built) in that Row, was the seat of Oldcastle Ld. Cobham the martyr, burnt 1417; Lady Huntingdon lived next door to her chapel; W. Huntingdon, S. S. (sinner saved), lived at Hermes Hill, where Valangin, who sold the 'Balsam of Life,' lived before him; Swedenborg died in Gt. Bath St.; under Pardon Church in Sutton St. 50,000 (?) who died of the plague in 1849, were buried; and the 'Three Hats' inn, near Islington, is noticed in Bickerstaffe's 'Hypocrite.' Dibdin's cottage near Sadler's Wells is down; in St. John St. road, at Manor Ho. school, is an elm planted they say by Raleigh. The Company of Clerks performed before Rich. II., 1391, at the fons clericorum as above; Edw. IV. was proclaimed king here 1461; and a new way was cut through the fields, where Northampton St. stands, to welcome the entry of Jas. I. Of the squares, Wilmington stands on Spa fields where Hunt's riots took place 1817, Granville is named after the excellent G. Sharp; — Myddleton, Lloyd, and Claremont belong to the New River Comp., whose reservoir, made by Sir Hugh 1613, covers — acres at the height of about 63 ft. The House of Correction contains 30 wards and yards, and 34 day rooms, with a treadmill, hospital, etc.; in the Gordon riots of 1780, the prisoners were set free. Lands descend by 'borough-english' custom in this manor, which includes parts of this and neighbouring pars., and belongs to the Comptons. Clerkenwell Sup. Registry comprises the par. as above; pop. 56,708 + 907; births 2081 (1049 being females, 62 illegit.)—deaths 1341—marriages 524, of which 156 persons signed with marks; 13 deaths from cholera in 1849. Morgan, rector, — ch. has mon. of the Lucases; St. Leonard Rect. 1291, Balliol Coll., — ch. ancient, had two chantries; St. M. Magdalen Vic. — L., Ld. Chancellor. Of the abbey found. 1096 by Eudo, who was buried in it, and which had a mitred abbot, with the privilege of sanctuary, and was val. at 5241, only the gateway (12th cent.) remains; it was battered down at the siege, as was also St. Botolph's priory — found. 1116 by Ernulph the first prior, and b. partly of roman bricks, for augustinian canons — being the earliest and the head of that order in England. Great part of the town walls, which form an oblong of about 108 acres, with 4 gates and 3 posterns, and are about 7 ft. thick, are gone. At one corner are the castle walls, 140 ft. by 102, and 11 to 30 ft. thick, built of flint, etc. with fragments of roman brick; parts of the tower, norman gateway, sallyport, and chapel, are still standing. There are traces of greyfriars found. 1309 by Rob. Fitzwalter, but none of crutched friars, which was the earliest (1244) in England. St. Helen's church, said to have been found by Helena the mother of Constantine (whom some claim as a native, though he was born in Dacia), and daughter, as reported, of the british king Coel, or Coil ('old king Cole' of the song — see COYLTON), was reb. 1076 by Eudo, and is now the Friends' meeting house. Vessels of 150 tons come up to the 'Hythe' or port, which extends to the Mersey stone. In 1846, 252 sail of 9253 tons (196 being under 50 t. each) belonged to the port, to which Brightlingsea is a sub-port; and the tonnage Inwards and Outwards, including repeated voyages, was 'coastwise' 763 of 49,925, and 562 of 24,742 tons, — from and to 'colonies' 5 of 655, and 2 of 628 t., — from and to 'foreign ports' 14 of 1024, and 15 of 1541 t. (besides 11 foreigners of 859, and 11 of 982 t.); total customs 14,2201., — the exports (val. — L.) being corn, malt, etc., — and imports (val. — L.) spanish wines, oilcake, timber, etc. From the camp at Lexden, british and roman ways went to London, Verulam, Cambridge (thence to Chester on Via Devana), and Castor (Northampton). A temple was dedicated to Claudius — and pavements, with 'bushels of coins,' according to Morant, of every emperor, and many other antiquities, have been found. An old timber house built 1490, but dated 1090 by mistake, gave rise at one time to many disputes about the introduction of arabic numerals in England. It publishes the 'Essex Standard' newspaper; the E. Esx. militia have their head qrs. here. Powell, a divine, was a native, and speaker Abbot, 1st lord Colchester, who took his title hence, was born at All Saints rectory (1757-1829). C. and Sudbury rail. 12 m. long, incorp. with E. Union, goes from Marks Tey on E. Count. past Halstead to Sudb., and is to go to Clare (44 m.); recd. (June 1849) 196,7601., expend. 192,1781. Colech. P. L. Union, contains the boro' as above; cases relieved (years 1846-7) 2244 (out-door 1762), expend. 93451., prop. rated 47,1701. Sup. Registry comprises the same; pop. 17,790 + 163. The New County Court district contains the registry, with those of Lexden, Winstreet, and Tendring, including Manningtree in that sub-district (the rest of which with Harwich and Thorpe sub-districts go to Harwich). The Excise district includes Colchester, Maldon, Rayleigh, Billericay, Grays, Ingatestone, Chelmsford, Witham, Manningtree, Harwich, Coggeshall, Halstead, Braintree; and in 1835 had 50 officers, and collected 234,6141. (each collector's round being 187 m.), of which 128,4411. was on malt, 82,4801. on spirits, 90111. on licenses, 85091. on bricks, 13691. on hops, 10711. on soap, etc. — and the total number of traders (4491) included 1838 dealers in tobacco, 1027 in tea, 965 in wine and spirits, 468 brewers and maltsters, 129 brick-makers. Mkt. D. Wed. Sat. corn, cattle. Fairs, 5, 6, and 23-5 July, 20 Oct. cattle, etc.

CORNWALL (25-6, 29-33) a seaside county, W. of R. Tamar, SW. corner of England, the Cassiterides or "tin islands" of the Phoenicians and Greeks, was the seat of the Carnabii, Cornavii (or Cornubians, from 'kernou' a horn, or 'carn' a hill), a branch of the Damnonii in the roman Britannia Prima—became a separate British kingdom 446 under Vortigern, till overrun by the Saxons (who called it Weallas—from 'gael' or 'walsch,' a stranger), first in 818 under Egbert, 892 under Alfred, and 927-38 under Athelstan, who made it part of Wessex,—was ravaged by the Danes 806 and 977-81, who partially settled upon it, and was created a duchy in the person of the Black Prince 1329, now held by the Prince of Wales,—is watered by the Lynher, Looe, Fowey, Camel, and other small streams,—and bordered by Devon. (E.), and the sea (N., W., and S.). Length from Porthleven, near Helston, NE. to Launceston 58 m., greatest breadth 46, av. ditto 22; relative size 230-10,000ths; circuit about 265 m. including 200 of coast, along which are Cawsand bay in Plymouth sound, Rame head, Looe harb. and isld., Fowey harb., Greben hd. beacon near St. Austell's bay, Deadman pt. (379 ft. high), St. Anthony's pt. and light near Falmouth harb. (anc. Cenionis Ostia), Manacles rocks between Helford creek and Black hd., the Lizard and light—the most S. point of England (lat. 49° 57' 41") whence ships take their departure, with the Stags rocks off it, St. Michael's mt. (anc. Ictis, and tin depôt) 231 ft. high in Mount's bay near Penzance, Logan rock near Tol Peden Penwith cave, off which are the Rundlestone and Wolf rocks, Land's End (anc. Antivestæum) the most W. point of England (long. 5° 42'),—off which are Longships rock and light, the Seven stones and floating light, and (25 m. SW. by W.) St. Mary's (the largest of the Scilly islds.) and light,—Cape Cornwall (trap), St. Ives's bay (trap cliffs), St. Agnes' hd., Towan bay, Trevech hd., Padstow harb., Port Isaac, Tintagel hd., and Bude harb.,—raised beaches being visible in Mount's bay and along the N. coast, which has no good harbour, and on which the sand gains from St. Ives to Padstow. It contains 1330 sq. m. or 851,200 acres (849,200 by addition of pars.) exclusive of Scilly islds. (5570 acres), of which 700,000 are arable, meadow, etc., the rest moorland; 341,279 + 4034 persons, of whom 71,927 are in Gwennap, St. Austell, Camborne, Kenwyn, Penzance, Illogan, St. Agnes, St. Just,—176,522 are females, 167,328 under 20 yrs. of age, 323,624 born in county,—31,723 or 9·3 per cent. live by commerce, trade, manufact. (27,008 being miners), 26,862 or 7·9 per cent. in agricult. (8201 being farmers, graziers),—2349 educated professions, 9079 are independent, 68,500 labourers and servants, besides others; 65,574 houses, exclusive of 5918 empty and building; 9 hundreds (7 at 'Domesdy.') in two divisions,—E. Div. containing Stratton, Lesnewth, Trigg, and part of Pyder on N. coast, and East (in three parts), West, and E. Powder on S. coast, with Bodmin for election town, and that and St. Austell, Callington, Camelford, Launceston, Stratton, for polling places,—W. Div. containing part of Pyder, and Penwith on N. coast, and W. Powder, and Kerrier on S. coast, with Truro for election town, and that and Helston, Penzance, Redruth, for polling places; 203 parishes (the largest being St. Neot's) besides parts of 3 others, and 2 ext. par. places; 246 towns, vils., etc.; about 28 market towns,—Bodmin and Lanneston assize towns, Truro (sessions), St. Austell, St. Columb, Falmouth, Helston, Liskeard, Penzance, Redruth, Camelford*, Stratton, St. Agnes (?), Callington*, Camborne, St. Daye, Fowey*, Gram-pound* (?), St. Ives, E. (instead of 44 as formerly, i. e. 2 for county and 2 each for 21 boroughs, including Newport, St. Michael's, W. Looe, Bossiney, and those marked *, all disfranchised by the Reform act,—except Grampound in 1821), viz. 2 each for E. and W. Cornwall (pop. 165,364, and 175,634,—electors 6917 and 5212), 2 each for Bodmin, Penryn (with Falmo'), and Truro (elect. 401, 950, and 624), 1, instead of 2, each for Helston, St. Ives, Launceston, Liskeard (elect. 378, 589, 366, and 333); is governed by a lord lieut., 35 deputy lieuts., and about 125 magistrates; is in the W. circuit and Western military district, and constitutes an archd. in dioc. of Exeter, province of Canterbury. Real prop. (1815) 922,259*l.* ('43) 1,353,261*l.*—of which 178,017*l.* on mines, 10,964*l.* on quarries, 8983*l.* on iron works, 11,473*l.* on canals; ditto rentals, 566,333*l.*, or 13*s.* 3*d.* per acre (when wheat was 77*s.*) and 774,692*l.*, or 18*s.* 2*d.* per acre (wheat 55*s.*); county income ('48) 11,060*l.*, of which 9081*l.* from co. rate (not laid on any existing valuation, but derived from a single rate of 12*l.* 14*s.* on the several pars., etc. of a long date back), 2814*l.* from the Treasury. Poor r. (1846-7) for 13 unions 86,944*l.* on 976,209*l.*, or 1*s.* 9*d.* in the £. (wheat being 59*s.*)—cases relieved 28,508 (out-door 24,930) in estimated pop. of 368,134. Total charities 3252*l.*, of which 929*l.* for schools and education; savings bks. ('49) 9, with 465,418*l.* from 12,004 depositors; in yr. '38-9, 3973 m. of road (335 m. being turnpike) were maintained for 28,612*l.* In '46-7, out of 223 pars. 206 had 374 church schools, supported by 8192*l.* with 20,445 child. attending, and 465 paid teachers (79 being monitors) whose salaries were 6562*l.* and who had 123 teachers' houses: out of these 8 were free schools and 62 sund. sch. (exclusively,—with 536 teachers, and 6857 child.); and 173 in union with the National Soc. had 12,978 child. and total grants of 4802*l.* Offenders in '48, 272 (or 287 av. of 5 yrs.), of whom 177 were convicted, 68 were females, 17 under 15 yrs. of age, 86 could not read or write. Following the 14 Sup. Registry districts of '45 (total pop. 343,321 + 4078), the 'births' were 11,347, of whom 5461 were females, 576 or 5·1 per cent. illegit.; 'deaths' 6017 or 1 in 52,—the all-England av. being 46; 'marriages' 2577 (at church 2264), of which 2338 persons, or 45·4 per cent. signed with marks. The chief rock, which is killas or clay slate belonging to the 'Devonian' or old red sandstone formation, with limestone, and elvan or porphyry bands,—is intersected by a ridge of granite (called moorstone and growan) running NE. and SW. through the county, and rising into rugged masses at Brown Willey 1368 ft. (the highest point), Carraton Down 1208, Hensbarrow 1029, Carn Bonellis 822, Carn Brae 697, Sennen at Land's End 387, etc. Near the granite are found the tin and copper, the staple riches of the county,—which numbers about 200 mining concerns, many called Huel or Wheal, i. e. a work or pit, and mostly lying between St. Austell's and St. Just's, with a capital of 2,440,000*l.*, employing in one way and another about 50,000 persons. Produce of the tin mines, which were worked by the Phœnicians long before Christ (tho' not noticed in 'Domesdy.' from the commotions which raged) is 5000 tons at 70*l.* per ton, chiefly from St. Agnes, St. Austell, etc.; of copper, not worked much before 1700, 10,000 tons at 95*l.*, from St. Clear and Calstock in "eastern" district, which takes in Gwennap and Redruth (see that for the Consolidated Mine), Camborne and Illogan, Gwinnear, etc.,—and from Huel Vor (i.e. great work), and St. Just's in "western" dist. St. Austell is also a mining district; and Launceston (for Blackmore), Lostwithiel (for Frymore), Helston (for Kerrier), but chiefly Truro (for Tywarnhaile), and Penzance (for Penwith), are obsolete stannary courts, to which the metal was brought to be stamped before the repeal of the duties 1837, and which sent members to the Stannary parl., whose duties are now performed by a vice-warden at Truro. A strip of carboniferous limestone with slate and flagstone lines the Attery down to Launceston,—and to the N. is a bed of millstone grit, with culm, and coal plants. Lead is wrought at Helston, slate at Liskeard and Denybole near Tintagel hd., china stone at Stephen's, soap rock or steatites (used in porcelain) near the Lizard in the serpentine, along with asbestos; good building stone, and iron, cobalt, arsenic, zinc or spelter, bismuth, mundick or pyrites, are found in several places,—indeed almost every kind of mineral is to be had, and large collections are seen at Menabilly and Scorrier Ho. The climate is mild and equal, and the soil though sterile on the moorlands, is fruitful in the valleys and many parts on the sea, where, being well manured with sand, shells, weed, pilchards, it yields good crops of naked barley or pillez (70 to 80 bush. per acre sometimes), wheat, and potatoes—the last, about Penzance, 300 to 600 bush. per acre have been raised. Cattle and sheep are crossed with Devon breeds, and mules are reared for walking the hills. Farms are small, and let from 7 to 21 yrs., or on leases of three lives; farm buildings middling; and agriculture, which is secondary to mining, is backward but improving. From July to September, the people on the coast from Looe round to Padstow, turn fishermen for pilchards, of which about 21,000 hogsheads are produced chiefly for exportation; red mullet, turbot, mackerel, conger eel, oysters, etc., are caught. A few woollens are made at Callington, etc., for home consumption. Besides the rivers above, there are the Fal, Hêl, Hêyl or Hayle—all short and unimportant except for the harbours at their mouths; and a holy well at St. Keyne. On the coast are found the cornish chough and other wild-fowl, fine-coloured sands, corals, and many aquatic and other plants—as fuci, confervæ, ulvæ or laver, gentian, samphire, wild flax, sweet briar (Land's End), and myrtle—while the whortleberry, heath, valerian, service, etc., are found inland.—Among the antiquities, are druid remains, as the Hurlers, Cheesewring, and a cromlech near St. Cleer which has a famous holy well, Piran Round near St. Agnes, Men-an-men logan stone near Helston, Dance Maen and other circles round St. Burian, Carnbrae near Redruth, i.e. Tre-druth or druid's town—though many stones called druidical here and elsewhere, seem to be purely natural; Chun Castle and Cast. an Dinas—either british or the work of the Danes who have left many barrows, etc. on the hills; castles at Launceston, Trematon, Lostwithiel, Restormel—all belonging to the old earls of C.,—also Pengerswick, St. Michael's Mount, Tintagel or K. Arthur's, who was a native; old churches at Probus (fine tower), Truro, St. Neot's

(with many stained windows), Duloe (with slate sculptures), St. Germain's and Bodmin (both old cathedrals); priory ruins at Rialton; hermitage at St. Roche. Around the Scilly islds., which number 140 now, but only 10 in Strabo's time, remains of buildings are seen in the water, and the tract towards the main, it is said, was swallowed up about 1099. On the Gilstone, Sir C. Shovell and 4 ships were lost. At Camelford, K. Arthur fell, 542, after killing his false nephew Mordred; and Sir R. Hopton beat the parl. forces at Stratton 1643. At Mousehole, Dolly Pentraeth, the last cornish-speaking native, died 1788; and a descendant of the Constantine emperors is buried at Llandulph. St. David was a native of Alton, the good knight Sir Tristram of Carlyon, Earl of Chatham of Boconnoc, Davy of Penzance. Borlase, who wrote the co. history, died at Ludgvan, Polwhele at Manacan. Some of the seats are: Earl of Mt. Edgecumbe Cotehele (very ancient) and Mt. Edgecumbe (which belongs to Devon) Duke of Leeds Godolphin, D. of Northumberland Werrington, Earl St. Germain's Port Elliot, Earl Falmouth Tregothan, Baroness Basset Telidy, Lord Clinton Trefusis, Ld. Treffry and Trerice are very old mansions. Short canals are cut from Bude Haven to Launceston, with a branch to Holsworthy; and from St. Cleer and Liskeard to St. Looe; and rails, for mining purposes run from Blisland and Bodmin to Wadebridge, Roche to St. Blazey, St. Austell to Pentewan, St. Ives bay to Camborne, Redruth, and Perranarworthal, with branches to Pontreath and Godolphin. Roads from Bodmin are: 1. Along the moors to Alton 11, Launceston 19, thence to Oakhampton 37. 2. To St. Breward 7, Camelford 11, Davidston 15, Stratton 27. 3.  P. M. 3. COVENTRY, city (53) a county of itself, locally in Knightlow hund. N. Warwick. a station on N. West. rail. 94 m. from London, or 91 by road, a polling place, excise collection, the centre of the ribbon trade, and sometime the seat of a bishopric jointly with Litchfield, on R. Sherborne, takes its name (Conventre, i. e. convent town) from the priory found. about 1043 on the site of St. Osburg's nunnery (which the Danes destroyed 1016), by Earl Leofric and his famous wife Godiva, who, according to the common story, procured for it many privileges by riding naked through the streets; came at the Conquest to the earls of Chester, who built the castle at Cheylesmore the seat of Leofric, and thence to the Crown; was walled by Edw. III. when it had a prosperous cap and clothing trade, and the fine steeple of St. Michael's was built; was appointed by Rich. II. for the combat between Duke of Norfolk and Duke of Hereford, who afterwards 1404 as Hen. IV. held here his 'parl. in doctorem' (all lawyers being shut out); visited 1436, 1450, 1456, by Hen. VI. to see the religious plays, hocktide sports, and other pageants for which it was celebrated, and again 1459 to hold what the attainted Yorkists called the 'parl. diabolicum'; visited 1474 by Edw. IV. after defeating the Lancastrians, by Rich. III., by Hen. VII. after the battle of Bosworth Field, by Hen. VIII. Eliz. I. and II.; garrisoned for parl. 1642, for which it was dismantled by Ch. II.;—has returned two members to parl. from Hen. VI.'s time (occasionally from Edw. I.), the limits which comprise the 3 pars. below (except Radford and Keresley hmlts.), being unaltered by the Reform act,—no. of electors 4056 (of 107 houses 7635); was first chartered by Edw. III. and by the late act is divided into 6 wards (formerly 10), governed by a mayor, 12 ald. 36 council. with the style of "may. bailiffs, commonalty of city of C." and revenue of 17,074l. Acres of city 4920,—of county, as above; pop. 30,743 + 867, in the manufacture of silk (which employs 1855 hands), ribbons (1807), and clocks and watches (831),—2669 being set down as "weavers" merely, and some colliers; houses 4920, in narrow streets, with many old fashioned timbered buildings, 8 churches, 8 chapels,—a venerable structure called St. Mary's Hall or Guildhall, of the 15th cent. in which is the ancient banquetting room 63 ft. by 30, with timbered roof and fine N. window, and full of portraits, inscriptions, and coats of arms of kings, warriors, mayors, churchmen, also stained windows, chair of state, minstrel's gallery, suits of armour, and Hen. VI.'s tapestry 30 ft. by 10,—county hall (1785), mayor's parlour where sessions are held, house of correction and gaol, corn, cattle, and pig mkt., Draper's hall reb. 1832, 3 banks, savings bk. (68,509l. from 3290 depositors), gas-works, pub. library, theatre, cavalry barracks on site of Bull Inn where Mary Q. of Scots was confined,—house of industry or poorhouse, a fine old building built for the white friars monastery by Ld. Mayor Poultney, and added to by the Haleses who received Q. Eliz. here,—Hales's free gram. school (once the chapel of St. John's hosp. found. by Prior Laurence) with 1070l. income, 5 exhibitions, 3 fellowships, and 1 scholarship attached, and in which Dugdale the antiquary was educated,—general hosp., the Bablake hosp. and school found. 1350, in which are Bond's almsh. (1001l.) and Wheatly's school (887l.), Baker's Cow-Lane school (400l.), also Southern's (89l.), Bayley's (154l.), Fairfax's (72l.), and girls' blue coat (134l.) schools, grey friars or Ford's (394l.) hosp., an old timbered house. Assd. taxes 6658l.; poor r. 6434l. on 75,045l.; real prop. 148,996l., of which 10,763l. on canal and 1965l. on mines; charities 9440l., of which Sir. T. White's for loans, etc. 2661l., Holy Trinity church lands 847l., Moore's 495l., Wale's 262l. Livings are: St. Michael Vic. (Worc.) val. 472l., patr. Crown,—church, later eng. (Ed. III.—Hen. VI.), had 8 chantries, and has an old font, 2 brasses (from 1594), and a beautiful steple (called a "masterpiece" by Wren) b. 1373-95 by the Botoners, the tower being 168 $\frac{1}{2}$ ft. including the octagon of 32 $\frac{1}{2}$ on 8 springs, from which rises the spire of 130 $\frac{1}{2}$ ft., or about 300 ft. total; Holy Trinity Vic. 700l., Ld. Chancellor,—ch. cruciform, and later eng. belonged to the priory, with 6 chantries attached, and has a stone pulpit, brass lectern, tomb of P. Holland who translated Camden's 'Britannia' and many other books, and wrote a folio with 'one sole pen,' portraits of Leofric and Godiva, and a steeple of 237 ft., rebuilt 1667, which with St. Michael's forms the most conspicuous marks for the city; St. John Rect. val. 83l., Corporation, is held by master of gram. school,—ch. cruciform (Ed. III.), on site of Bablake chapel; these are the city pars.;—the cws. are Christchurch 179l., Vic. of St. Michael's ch. b. 1832, has the old spire of Grey friars (1358) in which they acted their mysteries; St. Peter 150l., Vic. of Hol. Trinity; St. Thomas 130l., Crown and Bishop; and Keresley. The cathedral, b. 1095, and pulled down along with the priory by Hen. VIII. stood at Hill Close,—this place being the Bp.'s seat from 1102 to 1188; some traces of the old palace are visible near St. Michael's. A fine mkt. cross b. 1554, 57 ft. high, with 18 niches, was taken down 1771. Three gates out of 12 (of which the finest was Spon gate), and parts of the walls, which had 32 towers, are remaining, and there are some fragments of Spore's hosp. founded by the earls of Chester. The grey friars, the chief actors in the pageants and mysteries, and probably the authors of the Godiva legend, settled here 1234; the white friars 1342. It was ravaged by the plague six times from 1350 to 1625; in 1555 and before, Sanders and 9 others suffered martyrdom. Roman coins and a pavement have been found. Vincent the franciscan, William the carmelite, Maklesfield the dominican, Bp. Bird, Crawford a divine, Wanley the antiquary (whose father was vicar), Carte the antiquary and father of the historian, and Tippers who brought out a Ladies' Diary, were natives; it publishes the 'C. Herald,' and 'C. Standard,' and gives title of earl to the Coventrys of Croome Court, of whom was the whig Ld. Keeper on whose behalf the 'Coventry Act' was passed in Ch. II.'s time. On Trinity Friday the procession takes place in which Lady Godiva figures, and the effigy of Peeping Tom with a pigtail, etc. ornamenting the corner of High St. is fresh painted. The phrase "to send to Coventry," seems to have originated with military men, who at one time were kept at a distance by the inhabitants. Whitley Hall, seat of Ld. Hood; Charter House, E. Inge, Esq. once the Carthusian priory; Stivichall, F. Gregory, Esq.; Coombe Abbey, Earl Craven. C. Div. (pop. 95,445, elect. 5107), with Carlisle for election town, and those above marked (e.), with Dalston and Penrith, for polling places,—2 for W. Div. (pop. 82,378, elect. 3993), with Cockermo' for elect. town, and the same, with those marked (w.) for polling places,—2 each for Carlisle and Cockermo' (el. 1067 and 339), 1 for Whitehaven (el. 546); is governed by a lord lieut., high sheriff, 12 deputy lieuts., about 85 magistrates; is in the N. circuit, and chiefly in the archdy. and dioc. of Carlisle, province of York. Real prop. (1815) 737,848L,—('43) 910,334L, of which 47,827L on mines, 1817L on quarries, 3302L on iron works; ditto rentals, 505,321L or 10s. 4d. per acre (when wheat was 77s.), and 603,725L or 12s. 4d. per acre (wheat 55s.). County income ('48) 11,042L, of which 6145L from co. rate (on a val. of 712,690L made 1826), 4210L from the Treasury. Poor r. (yr. 1846-7) for 9 unions, 39,022L on 910,344L, or 1s. 1d. in the £. (wheat being 59s.),—cases relieved 12,716 (out-door 10,343), in estimated pop. of 183,170. Total charities 3428L, of which 2048L for schools (1228L gram. sch.) and education. Savings bks. ('49) 7, with 262,041L from 8978 depositors. In yr. '38-9, 2213 m. of road (296 m. being turnpike) were maintained for 10,810L. In '46-7, out of 152 pars. 137 had 312 church schools, supported by 9107L, with 16,245 child. attending, and 326 paid teachers (33 being monitors), whose salaries were 7346L, and who had 93 teachers' houses; out of these 3 were free schools, and 42 sund. sch. (exclusively,—with 609 teachers and 5447 child.); and 66 in union with the National Soc. had 5849 child. and total grants of 2649L. Offenders in '48, 130 (or 131 av. of 5 yrs.), of whom 106 were convicted, 34 were females, 4 under 15 yrs. of age, 37 could not read or write. Following the Sup. Registry districts of '45 (total pop. 178,038 + 854), the births were 5824,—of whom 2850 were females, 647 or 11.1 per cent. illegit.; deaths 3502, or 1 in 51,—the av. being 46; marriages 1116 (at church 910), of which 581 persons, or 25.1 per cent. signed with marks. A strip of carboniferous limestone and millstone grit runs through by Penrith, Irby, Cockermouth,—bordered by one of coal, which widens thence along the coast from Maryport to Whitehaven. Another strip forms naked moorland on the NE. border from Alston moor to Nichol forest, watered by innumerable burns and springs which swell in winter,—with few houses, but thousands of black-faced sheep and grouse (see 'Guy Mannering'). Between these sandstone prevails in great plenty, except about Carlisle, where coal and limestone are found; and to the SW. the fell district of Copeland (cop, a head) is chiefly mica and chlorite slate or blue rag, with sandstone along the coast, occasional masses of granite at Ravenglass, Ulleswater, R. Caldew, etc., and trap, porphyry, whinstone, at Ennerdale, etc. The mines (employing 3640 hands) are: coal, worked at Talkin fells, Maryport, Workington, Whitehaven, where they are 800 ft. deep, running right under the sea; lead, with some silver, at Alston moor (40 mines), Patterdale, Buttermere; iron, at Crowgarth (vein 24 ft. thick), Langnor, Millom; wad, or black lead, at Borrowdale, the only place in Engld. Almost every other mineral is found (specimens being collected at Keswick), as limestone at Overend, Catlands, Gisland Spa (with many fossils); brown marble at Lip Stainton, Dacre, green at Cross-fell, yellow on R. Peterill, blue at Kirkoswald; gypsum at Hesketh, Newbiggin; soap stone at Hill Top, St. John's, Langnor; asbestos at North-end; porcelain clay and tripoli at Barrock,—besides fluor and other spars, quartz, garnet, corne-lian, jasper, jet, in various parts; copper at Caldbeck, Hesketh, Newlands; and traces of black jack, zinc, cobalt, antimony, manganese, etc., are seen elsewhere. The principal lakes (covering about 20,000 acres) and mountains, of which Keswick is the centre, are: Ulleswater (the largest and most striking) 10 m. ESE., on Westmrdl. border, at the R. Eamont's head; Thirlmere (the highest—546 ft. above sea), 5 m. SE., on R. Greta, under Helvelyn (3055 ft. high) and Borrowdale fells; Derwentwater (the most beautiful), close to Keswick, on R. Derwent, with Lowdore fall of 150 ft., under Causey Pike (2040 ft.), Grisdale Pike (2756 ft.), and others; West water and Sparkling Tarn, on R. Irt (where pearl muscles were found), and Burmoo Tarn, on R. Esk, 15 to 18 m. SSW., under the Pillar (2893 ft.), near Gt. Gobell (2925 ft.), Glaramara, Bow Fell (2911 ft.), Wry Nose, Hard Knot (where Lanc., Wland., Cumbld. meet), Scafell (double-headed, 3166 ft.,—the highest), and Screees fell; Ennerdale water, 12 m. SW. by W., on R. Eheu, in Copeland, under Dent fell (1115 ft.), the Steeple, Haycock, etc.; Buttermere, Crum-mock, and Lowes water, on R. Cocker, 8 m. SW. by W., under Red Pike (2850 ft.), the Robinson, Blake fell; Bassenthwaite water, on R. Derwent, 4 m. NW., under Skiddaw (3022 ft.), with a view across England, over the Irish Sea, and into Scotland, etc.; Over water, on the smaller R. Eden, 7 m. NNW., under High Pike (2011 ft.), in the Caldbeck fells; Scales Tarn, under Saddleback (2789 ft.), and Souter fell, where something like the Brocken spectre was seen 1744. Near the S. Esk is Devock water, under Stainton fell; further S., near the Dudden, is Black Comb (1919 ft.); on Alston moor is Cross fell (2901 ft.), where the Helm wind is felt in winter, and Hartside, Rodderup fells, etc. Other rivers besides the above are Ellen, Waver, Wampool, Peteril, Line, Gelt. Salmon are caught in the Solway, Eden, and at Workington, — trout, carp, char, in the lakes (with wildfowl at times) and streams, — flounders, cod, etc., along the coast. Grouse are shot on the moors; the eagle is now rarely seen in the mountains. About 5900 hands are employed in the manufactures, which are chiefly, cotton at Carlisle, coarse linens, sail-cloth (Whitehaven, etc.), paper (on the rivers), woollen (Keswick), earthenware, iron, copperas, etc. — in 1847, a bad year, 2802, 306, 688, hands were in the cotton, woollen and worsted, and flax mills, respectively. Agriculture is improving; butter is sent to market from Alston moor, — the cows yielding a cwt. in the season. Farms, small and numerous, and many let by customary tenure, but some on lease; the buildings are of stone, and thatched; the farmers, called lairds and 'statesmen' (i. e. estatesmen), a hardy, contented race, — many being horse-dealers towards the N., where the independence of the free-spirited moss-trooper still survives. Chief crops, wheat, oats, turnips; stock of sheep 400,000, yielding 10,000 woolpacks; cattle of the long and short horned breeds. Good mutton is to be had at Keswick, and Longtown is famous for the cranberries which grow on the moors. Many bog and heathy plants are native, with some aquatics on the coast. Among the antiquities are druid circles, etc., at Grey Yards, Long Meg and her daughters, Giant's Grave and Thumb near Penrith, Motherby, Egremont, Gutterby, Keswick, Black Comb (two or three circles), Souden head (logan stone and barrow), Carrock fell (cairn); remains of stations on the Wall or Walls, which enter near Gilsland spa, and run close to each other for 25 m., — at Burdowsald (Amboiglannda), Cambeck fort or Castle steads (Petricana), Watchcross (Aballaba), Stanwicks (Congavata), Carlisle (Lugwallium), Burgh (Axelodunum), Drumburgh (Gabrosentum) where Hadrian's wall ends, Bowness (Tunnocellum), on the Solway, the termination of Severus's, — besides stations in other parts, at Netherby (Castra Exploratum, where many inscriptions, etc., have been found), Bewcastle (which has an old danish obelisk), Old Carlisle (Olenacum), Moresby (Ardecia), Old Penrith, Ellenboro' (Virosidum, many inscriptions at Nether Hall), Papcastle (Derwentio), also an inscription on the rock over the Gelt near Brampton; abbeyes, etc. at Llanercost, Wetheral, Holm Cultram, Calder, St. Bee's (old church and the college), Bridekirk (very old font); castles at Rockcliffe (the Ratcliffes'), Liddel's Strength, Scaleby, Naworth (Belted Will Howard's), Cast. Hewin, Kirkoswald, Penrith, Dacre, Sowerby, Highhead, Wulstey (Michael Scott's), Cockermouth, Egremont, Millom, — besides many towers, or Peel houses, on the border, 3 or 4 stories high, with one room in each, and used as retreats in the forays which were carried on till Jas. I. came to England (see the 'Abbot'). The first Ld. warden for the W. Marches was Rob. de Clifford, appointed 1296, and the principal 'hurryings' by one party or another were by the Danes 871, 1031; Athelstan 937; Edmd. I. 945; Ethelred 1001; the Conqueror 1069; the Scots in 1135, 1216 (under Will. the Lion), 1297, 1311 and 1322 (under Bruce), 1319 and 1327 (under Douglas), 1337, 1342, 1380, 1387, 1524, 1542, when they were beaten at Solway moss. It was traversed by the Pretender 1745, and by the royal forces in pursuit of him, under Will. duke of Cumberland, the first of that title, now held by king of Hanover. At Burgh on Sands, Edw. I. died; and Whitehaven was attacked 1778, by Paul Jones. The principal seats are: Earl Lonsdale Whitehaven Cast., Duke of Norfolk Gaobarrow Ph. (with Ara fall in it), Bp. of Carlisle Rose Cast., Earl Carlisle Naworth, Lord Muncaster Muncaster Cast., Vane, Bt. Armathwaite Hall, Brisco, Bt. Crofton Place, Senhouse, Bt. Hensingham Hall, Graham, Bt. DARTMOOR FOREST quarter (25) Lidford par. S. Devon. 6 m. NE. of Tavistock. Acres 53,900; pop. 933. Living, a Cur. (Exet.) val. —, patr. —. This is part of the great moor between Oakhampton, Tavistock, SW. rail., Ashburton, and Moreton Hampstead, 20 m. long, 9 to 12 broad, and about 120,000 acres, belonging to duchy of Cornwall. It consists of rugged and broken granite peaks or tors, of which the highest are, Yes tor 2050 ft. (?), Cosson or Cawsorn hill 1792 ft., Rippon tor 1549 ft., Buterton hill 1203 ft.; some are apparently druidical (as the Grey Wethers), and many were used as beacons. The Dart (at Cran-meer), Teign, Tavy, Taw, Plym, Cad, Erme, and Yealm, rise here, besides nearly 50 smaller streams. Micaceous iron ore, and stream tin, are found; copper and tin mines are worked; sheep pastured by the Venville (i.e. fen field) tenants, and peat dug for fuel in the bogs, which abound with fallen trees — the only remains of K. John's forest, except a few dwarf oaks, ash, etc. to be seen here and there. It was once better peopled, Lydford, on the W. side, being the capital and chief stannary town, but now decayed. At Crockerne tor, the stannary parliament is still held; Brent tor has an old church at the top; at Prince Town, under Tor Royal, at the height of 1400 ft., a large prison was b. 1808 — afterwards turned into a factory for extracting naphtha, ammonia, grease for candles, etc. from the bog — now to be used for convicts, and whence the D. rail. 25 m. long, made 1819, runs down to Plymouth. Mr. Morgan's hounds, and Mr. Newton's and the Forest harriers, meet here. Fair, at Two Bridges, 1st Wed. after 16 Aug.

('49) 3, with 59,069*l*. from 2464 depositors; in '38-9, 1394 m. of road (212 m. being turnpike) were maintained for 4203*l*. In '46-7, out of 75 pars. 62 had 85 church schools, supported by 2481*l*. with 5726 children attending, and 81 paid teachers, whose salaries were 2073*l*., and who had 39 teachers' houses: out of these 26 were free schools, and 11 sund. sch. (exclusively, — with 221 teachers and 2294 child.); and 50 in union with the National Soc. had 4113 child. and total grants of 2073*l*. Offenders in '48 115 (or 82 av. of 5 yrs.), of whom 78 were convicted, 24 were females, 2 under 15 yrs. of age, 45 could not read or write. Births, etc., — see N. WALES. The prevailing rocks are the clay and grauwacke slates of the silurian system, and the surface is generally hilly, especially on the W., where a barren range called Hiraethrog mountains, covered with small sheep, black cattle and grouse, rises 1660 ft. at Modwl Eithan, near which are llyllons, or lakes, Aled and Alwen, where those streams rise; N. is Moel Ucha 1234 ft.; SW. is Carnedd-y-Filiast 2127 ft.; S. is M. Bronanog 1572, and (at the head of the Clwyd) M. Enlli and M. Morvydd, both 1767 ft., — thence round to Flint. border, Cynr-y-Brain 1857, Moel Famau 1845, M. Arthur 1491, near Bwlch Agric. or Agricola's Pass. In the trough of these hills is the fruitful and healthy Vale of (or Ystrad) Clwyd 20 m. by

7, on a bed of new red sandstone, bordered by a strip of mountain limestone on the E. and on the W. — where it runs NW. to Gt. and Lit. Orme's Heads (both in Carnron.), past Denbigh and Abergele, with occasional veins of lead, and is watered by the Aled, Elwy, and other branches of the Clwyd. S. of the Dee are Cader Ferwyn 2563 ft. Moel Ferna 2108 ft., in the Berwyn range. On the E. is the Wrexham and Chirk coal-field (some seams 9 to 15 ft. thick), on a bed of millstone grit, with iron, at Ruabon, Brymbo, etc.; slate is quarried at Llangollen and near Chirk; limestone and building stone in the hills, where good peat is also cut; lead at Minera, etc. Agriculture is in a middling state, — oats, barley, wheat, the chief crops; and lean cattle, with some butter and cheese, are sent to market. Woolen web, or small cloths, are made in the Glyn (S. of Chirk), and stockings about Llanrwst — the seat for native *harp*s; gloves and cotton at Denbigh, paper at Chirk; in '47 (a bad year) 305 persons were in the woollen mills. Salmon are caught in the rivers, which with the above are Aled, Alen, Alwen, Elwy, Clettwr, Clewydog, Ceiriog, Tanat, and Rhaidr, which has a fall of 200 ft.; Llandegla and Llan St. Sior have mineral waters. Some of the native plants are: cardamine bellidifolia ladies' smock, inula helenium elecampane, near Denbigh; myrica, or dutch myrtle; sorbus aucuparia mountain ash, and s. hybrida bastard service, on Dinas Bran; rubus chamaemorus or cloudberry, on the Berwyn hills. Among the antiquities are Cerig-y-Druiddion druid stones, Llanarmon barrows, Liansallan round table (so called), Capel Voelas pillar and Eliseg pillar, — one of the most ancient in Wales; British castles at Dinas Bran, Sychaint (O. Glyndwr's), Garthen Coppayr-Wylfa, Tommon-y-Rhodwydd, and Gresford, — norman at Denbigh and Ruthin; and Llan Egwest or Vale Crucis abbey, a fine ruin. Wrexham church is called one of the 7 wonders of Wales, and that of Llanrhaiadr has a fine stained window; at Yepyty Jevan the knights of St. John (Jevan) had a hospital; Gwytherin was the birthplace of St. Winifred, Llanferres of Davies the welsh lexicographer, Ruabon of Dr. Powell the antiquary; near Cefn Oyo cave Rich. II. was betrayed to Bolingbroke by the Percy. The principal seats are: Visc. Dungannon Brynkinallt, Lord Bagot Pool Ph., Ld. Dinorben Kinnel, Wynne, Bt. Wynnstay (where the hounds are kennelled), Cunliffe, Bt. Acton, Hon. F. West Ruthin Cast., Mrs. Allenson Llanerch, P. Following the sup. registry districts of '45 (total pop. 239,791 + 8095), the 'births' were 8086, of whom 4179 were females, 672 or 8·3 per cent. illegit.; 'deaths' 5008 or 1 in 47, — the all-England av. being 46; 'marriages' 2077 (at church 1895), of which 1642 persons, or 38·6 per cent., signed with marks. S. of Belper the surface is level, with a red clay and well cultivated soil; from this it rises through the Low towards the High Peak in the NW., where Axedge, at the head of the Dove, is 1758 ft. high, Lord's Seat and Mam Tor 1751 ft., Kinder Scout about 1800 ft., and with Blakelow Stones, etc., at the Derwent's head, are on the ridge forming the backbone of England, — a region of barren moors, where thousands of sheep are pastured, — abrupt naked grit or limestone rocks, hollowed in caves and rich in mines, with many small streams and mosses in the valleys, which are subject to sudden storms and much rain, and the people to the goitre. The forests and woodlands, where wolves were once hunted, have disappeared under the peat bogs. All the E. border beyond Dronfield, Alfreton, Belper, to Dale abbey (where it was worked 1306), is coal, with clay, slate, and ironstone; from Ashborne and Duffield to Hope, and from the E. side of the Derwent to beyond the Dove, carboniferous limestone; S. of Derby, red sandstone or marl; between Uttoxeter and Derby, gritstone (for the cutlers) is found, and also in the middle from Belper upwards to the N. border, and all round to Chapel-le-Frith, in beds of great thickness, rising into bold crags near Hathersage, Glossop, etc. The mines employ 6784 hands, governed by their own peculiar laws; of whom 1461 are engaged in getting yearly 4500 tons of lead, which was worked by the Romans, and is found in the Peak, at Sheldon, Castleton, Matlock, Cromford, Wirksworth, etc. along with galena, barytes, and calamine; iron (30,000 tons, and 591 hands) near the coal at Butterley, Wingerworth, Chesterfield; coal (4486 hands) at Charlesworth, Wingfield, Packington, Shipley, Alfreton, etc.; limestone all over the Peak, Stoney Middleton, etc. turning into black and brown marbles at Ashford, Matlock, and Hopton, — grey at Moneyash, and bird's-eye at Wetton; gypsum, from the potteries, at Elvaston, Chellaston, Darley abbey, — with china-stone or chert at Matlock, pipe-clay at Bolsover, potters'-clay at Brampton, Heague, etc.; slate for roofing at Hayfield, Chinyale Hill; black jack (zinc) with blue john, or fluor-spar, and pyrites at Castleton, along with mineral caoutchouc; quartz diamonds at Buxton; petroleum at Ashford, where a small saurian was found; besides toadstone and large beds of ammonite, entrochi, and many other insect, vegetable, and shell fossils in the limestone and ironstone. The manufactures, employing 21,995 hands, are, cotton, calico, and tape (9143 hands), at Cromford (where Arkwright built his first mill), Derby, Glossop, Belper, Whitfield, etc.; cotton hose (5786 hands) at Derby, Belper, Alfreton, etc. (in 1844, about 6800 frames were at work in more than 60 places — chiefly the above, with Codnor, Heanor, Horsley, Ilkeston, S. Wingfield, — silk hose being made in remote villages); silk at Derby, where the first english mill, by Lombe, stands; lace (2005 hands) at Derby, Edale (with thread), Melbourne; porcelain and spar works at Derby; nail (1001 hands), cutlery, and hardware on the Fork border, where grindstones, hones, etc. are made; pottery (772 hands), Chesterfield, Belper, Ilkeston, etc.; besides gloves, hats, shoes, woollens, paper, cast-iron goods. In '47 (a bad year) 11,602, 31, 110, 5144 persons were in the cotton, woollen, flax, silk mills, respectively. — Among the native plants on the Peak are, alchemilla vulgaris, or bear's foot, bryum, campanula latifolia throatwort, cardamine ladies' smock, empetrum nigrum crowberry, rubus idaeus raspberry bush, prenanthes muralis wild lettuce, cranberry, whortleberry, valerian, viola or pansy; much camomile is grown about Shirland, etc. — Agriculture backward, and many small farms, a few on lease. Large dairies along the Dove, about Ashborne, etc., whence good mild cheese (300 cwt. per cow yearly), with butter made from the whey, and hogs, are sent to market; cattle of the Staffordsh. breed, with many crosses; chief crops, wheat and barley (for the Burton ale breweries) in the S., and oats (for consumption) in the Peak, with potatoes, which sometimes produce 600 bush. per acre; stock of sheep 360,000, chiefly Leicester, and yielding 9000 woolpacks — pastured on the unenclosed parts of the Peak, — where many asses and good active black horses are bred for service. — Rivers are, Derwent, Dove (which passes Reynard's Hall, Thorp Cloud, and other fine spots), Wye (passing Monsal dale), Erewash, Rother, Goyt, Trent, etc.; there are warm springs (temp. about 68°) in the shale and limestone at Matlock (a fine spot), Buxton, Bakewell, watering-places, — sulphur at Kedlestone, Ilkerton, and Heage (where the people drink it for small beer), — chalybeate at Quarndon, Chesterfield; those in limestone are petrifying, and the moors have in some parts a petrifying and tanning quality. — Among the antiquities are, druid circles and barrows at Arbor-low (low, a hill), and Stanton moor, with some cromlechs near the latter and at Hathersage; barrows at Monsal dale and Winster; castles at Melandra (roman), Mackworth, Castleton in the Peak (the Peverels), Codnor (the Greys); priories at Gresleys and Repton (seat of the mercian kings), Yeaveley preceptory, and Dale and Beauchief abbeys, — out of about 20 various religious foundations; old houses at S. Wingfield, and Haddon Hall (which belonged to Vernon, 'king of the Peak'), both in ruins. Beresford Hall, on the Dove, was Cotton's seat, where his "good father," Izaak Walton, visited him. Brindley was born at Tunstead, and Strutt, the inventor of ribbed stockings, at Normanton; Eyam was the vicarage of the good and devoted Mompesson, and at a house near Whittington, the Duke of Devonshire and others concerted the Revolution. The Devil's cavern 2700 ft. long, Elden Hole 180 ft. deep, Poole's Hole, Mam Tor, or the Shivering mountain. (a crumbling micaceous peak 1000 ft. above the base, with a trench about it), the intermittent spring near Chapel-le-Grith, two hot and cold springs at Buxton, only 12 ft. apart, and Chatsworth, constitute the "seven wonders of the Peak." Ryknield St. went from Branton (Trivonam, on Via Devana), past Lit. Chester (Derwentio), Pentrich, and Chesterfield (Lutudorum) to Temple Brough (ad Fines); from Lit. Chester, Long Lane goes to Chesterton, and another roman way to Manchester through Buxton, — whence there was a branch to Brough, and from that to Melandra cast. (a station). Seats, etc. are: Duke of Devonshire Chatsworth and Hardwick (ancient), Duke of Portland Bolsover, Earl Harrington Elvaston, Earl Chesterfield Bretby, Earl Newburgh Hassop, Visct. * * P. M. DEVIZES, or THE VIES, boro' (14) locally in Potterne hund. Mid. Wilts. 21 m. NNW. of Salisbury, 89 from London, on the downs and Kennet canal, near Gt. West. rail.—an election and sessions town, a polling place (N. Wilts.), and royal manor, not noticed in 'Domesdy.' seems to have grown out of the large castle, built (Hen. I.) by Bp. Roger (from whom it was taken 1139 by Stephen, seized 1141 by Rob. Fitz-Hubert, and dismantled by Ed. III.); was a large clothing town in Leland's time (Hen. VIII.); was besieged by Sir W. Waller 1648, and relieved by Ld. Wilmot who beat him at Roundaway Hill;—has returned two members to parl. from Ed. III. (occasionally from Ed. I.), the bounds including the old boro' (composed of two pars. as below), with parts of Rowde and St. James,—no. of electors being 390 (of 101. houses 1415); was chartered by Matilda, and by the new act is divided into 2 wards, governed by mayor, 6 ald., 18 council, with the style of "may. and burgesses of boro' of D." and revenue of 1502*l.* Acres of new boro' 883,—of old 660, hilly, with chalk; pop. 6156, and 4631+7, in the manufact. of silk (which has superseded woollens) and crape, and the ale breweries; houses in town 856, irregular but well built, with 2 churches, 5 chapels, town-hall on a rustic base by Baldwin, new co. gaol, house of industry, 3 banks, savings bk. (51,387*l.* from 1596 depositors), gas-works, free school (33*l.*), old and new almsh. (88*l.*), Ld. Sidmouth's mkt. cross by Wyatt, and union poor house; assd. taxes 1746*l.*; poor r. 3205*l.* on 17,684*l.*; real prop. 29,892*l.*; charities 720*l.*, of which church lands 289*l.* St. John and St. Mary the Virgin Rect. val. 518*l.*, patr. Ld. Chancellor,—St. James's church, norman and various later styles, with tower, etc., by Bp. Roger, 2 chantry chapels, and mons. of the Suttons of New Park (now the Estcourts'); St. Mary's ch. norman and later styles,—part as old as St. James's, part reb. 1436 by W. Smith,—with a good timber roof, and some old ruins. There were two hospitals—one for lepers before 1207. The great castle, 'so costly and strongly was never afore nor sence, set up by any byshope,' according to Leland, has long disappeared. It supports the 'D. and Wiltsh. Gazette,' and 'Wiltshire Independent,' newspapers; and Mr. Tugwell's harriers hunt round here. Richard of D., a historian, the excellent Joseph Allein (1623-58), Stephens a physician and writer, were natives. Roman coins and penates or household gods have been found. Old Park Lodge, T. Scott, Esq. Deviz. P. L. Union, contains the pars., etc., of Allcannings, Alton Barnes, Beechingstoke, Bishops Cannings, Bromham, Chirton, Chiverell (Great and Little), Devizes, Erlestoke, Etchinghampton, Marden, Market Lavington, Patney, Poulshot, Potterne, Rowde, Stanton (St. Bernard), Stert, Urchfont, West Lavington, with Allington, Chittoe, Ester-ton, Marston, Worton; acres 55,486, pop. 22,130, cases relieved (1846-7) 4527 (out-door 3755), expend. 11,577*l.*; prop. rated 98,786*l.* Sup. Registry comprises the same up to W. Lavington, with S. Broom; pop. 22,129+149; births (1845) 683 (314 being females, 60 illegit.)—deaths 461—marriages 152, of which 146 persons signed with marks; 47 deaths from cholera in 1849. The New County Court district corresponds with the registry. Mkt. D. Thursd. corn. Fairs, 14 Feb. horses; Holy Thursd., 20 Apr. cattle; 13 June, 5 July, 2, 20 Oct. cattle, hops, etc.

Devock Water (98) 5 m. ENE. of Ravenglass, S. Cumbria.

Devon River, 'crystal Devon, winding Devon,' of Burns, rises in Sheriffmuir, S. Perth, in Blackford, under the Ochills, runs 12 m. E. past Forsaway to the crook (or bend) of Devon, when it turns W. 15 m., and in a fine spot above Dollar, goes over Devil's Mill fall (so called because it sounds like a mill, and pays no regard to Sunday), then through Runbling Brig (20 ft. span, and 86 above the stream) and over the three Caldron Linn falls (the last, 40 ft. down), and past Tillbody and Devon ironworks, to the Forth above Alloa. "'Tis Blanche of Devon,' Murdoch said.—"

Devon (South or Black) River, rises near Saline, W. Fife, and runs 12 m. W. parallel to the above, to R. Forth below Alloa.

* * P. M. DEVONPORT (24) Stoke Damerell par. Roboro' hund. SW. Devon. 1 m. W. of Plymouth-216 (to which it is a sub-port), between Stonehouse pool and Hamoaze, at the R. Tamar's mouth, and called Plymouth Dock till 1824, is a sessions town, fortress, and royal dock-yard, which has grown into importance since the establishment of the latter by Will. III., and was fortified 1758; was created a borough returning two members, under the Reform act, the limits including the pars. of Stoke and Stonehouse,—no. of electors being 2354 (of 101. houses 5199); was chartered 1847, and divided into 6 wards, governed by mayor (who is returning officer), 12 ald. 33 council. (who supersede the old body of 125 commissioners), with the style of "may. ald. and burgesses of boro' of D." and revenue of 1613*l*. Acres of boro' 1915, hilly, with slate, hard marshy limestone, red sandstone; pop. of boro' 43,532 + 865, connected with the dock-yard and shipping; houses 4158 (or upwards of 10 people to a house, — a proportion much exceeding Portsmouth, Woolwich, and similar places, which give 7 to 8; the average in general being about 5), with 6 churches, about 20 chapels, town-hall and prison (with doric column in front commemorating the change of name), mkt. house, theatre, assembly rooms in Fore St., public library, 4 banks, savings bk. (374,004*l*. from 11,387 depositors), royal naval annuitant fund (39,290*l*. from 1051 dep.), proprietary school, nav. and mil. orphan girls' sch. for 100, dispensary, pauper lunatic asylum, lying-in institution, waterworks (supplied 30 m. from Dartmoor), poor ho., naval and ordnance hospitals at Stoke, marine and seven other barracks (Mount Wise, Granby, Picquet, those in George, Ligonier, Frederick, Granby, and Cumberland squares), King's brew-house at S. Down, Tamar brewery at Morice Town, powder magazine at Keyham point, near the steam factory, and the victualling office, a noble building, at Stonehouse; assd. taxes 9678*l*.; poor r. —; real prop. — L. Livings, all Curs. (Ex.) are, St. Aubyn, val. 117*l*., and St. John, 150*l*., patr. Rector; St. James, St. Mary, St. Paul, and St. Stephen, each 230*l*., patr. Crown and Bishop. In the Dock-yard of 71½ acres, on firm rock, are a chapel, admn. superintendent's and other houses, pay office, 3 building slips, basin and dock (the oldest part), Double dock, Union or N. dock, New N. dock (260 ft. by 85, and 28 deep, — made 1789), Camber or canal, joiners' shop, rigging house and sail-loft 480 ft. long, boat-house, blacksmiths' shop 210 ft. sq. with 48 forges, and anchor-wharf in front, boiling-house for softening wood into shape, mast-house and pond (near Bunker's hill, a little battery with a good view), rope-house 1200 ft. long, mould or model loft, storehouses, yards for plumbers, braziers, armourers, etc. The Gun wharf, b. 1719-25, by Vanbrugh, in his usual heavy style, fills 4½ acres, with armoury, storehouses, etc. The walls and ditches which were excavated in the rock, and are — long, with 3 gates, extend from Mutton cove, the usual landing place, whence there is a ferry to Mt. Edgcombe, past Mt. Wise (the old seat of the Wises, who had the manor, through the Morices, now belonging to the St. Aubyns), which is defended by batteries commanding the way to Hamoaze, and has a telegraph (one of 32 communicating with London), round by Richmond walk to Stoke, and to the ballast pond at Morice Town, near New Passage, where there is a floating bridge to Torpoint on the Cornwall side. Hamoaze, or the harbour, is 4 m. by ½, with 9 to 12 fath.; and several ships lie up in ordinary here, with the convict hulk. Outside it are the Passage rock, harbour, and Devil's bridge shoals, Winter and Asia (or Africa) rocks. It supports the 'D. Telegraph,' 'D. Independent,' 'West of Engl. Conservative,' newspapers. Mkt. Ds. Tu. Th. Sat.

(1846-7) for 17 unions, 196,783l. on 2,028,583l. or 1s. 11d. in the £. (wheat being 59s.). — cases relieved 49,045 (out-door 43,516), in estimated pop. of 450,573l. Total charities 28,716l. of which 7381l. for schools and education; savings bks. ('49) 6, with 1,548,590l. from 53,364 depositors; in '38-9, 7165 m. of road (1019 m. being turnpike) were maintained for 35,663l. In '46-7, out of 510 pars., etc. 478 had 936 church schools, supported by 26,790l. with 43,686 children attending, and 1189 paid teachers (265 being monitors), whose salaries were 18,086l. and who had 455 teachers' houses: out of these 34 were free schools, and 121 sund. sch. (exclusively), — with 1362 teachers and 14,444 child.; and 365 in union with the National Soc. had 24,879 child. and total grants of 5734l. Offenders in '48, 924 (or 806 av. of 5 yrs.), of whom 685 were convicted, 226 were females, 38 under 15 yrs. of age, 295 could not read or write. Following the sup. Registry districts of '45 (total pop. 537,270 + 3742), the 'births' were 16,105, of whom 3361 were females, 879, or 5.5 per cent., illegit.; 'deaths' 10,165, or 1 in 53, — the all-England av. being 46; 'marriages' 4757 (at church 4165), of which 3312 persons, or 34.7 per cent., signed with marks. The surface is hilly and well wooded, and in many parts like a garden. To the SW. is Dartmoor, a rugged granite plain 1500 to 1800 ft. high (where the wolf was hunted till Elizabeth's time), with pasture for sheep, — including the 'Forest' which belongs to duchy of Cornwall, with swamps and peatwood, — and several tors scattered about, as Cawson beacon (1792 ft. the highest), Dart head, near which 7 or 8 rivers rise, Erme head (1131 ft.) where 4 more rise, Rippon tor 1549 ft., Brent tor and its church, Lydford, a very wild part, Crockern tor, where the stannary courts were held. Other streams rise on the NE. at Blackdown, where chert is quarried (880 ft.), and in the N. at Exmoor (about 1000 ft.); here and along the S. coast, old red sandstone with clay and grauwacke slate are found; from Torbay N., through the vale of Ex, to Tiverton, and to the W. past Crediton and Hatherleigh, new red and keuper sandstones; a broad strip of carboniferous limestone runs from Barnstaple bay to past Bampton, and round the N. and W. side of Dartmoor; all the rest in the middle part is millstone grit with culm and traces of poor coal; chlorite and mica slate are seen at the Start and Bolt hd. A little copper, tin, iron, etc. is still worked — the mines employing 1411 hands, and the old stannary towns being Plympton, Ashburton, Tavistock, or Lydford, and Chagford; lead (with silver) is found at Combe Martin and Beer Ferris, where fluor spar is procured; manganese from Huxham to Upton Pyne and Newton St. Cyres; antimony at Chudleigh, in the limestone, and S. Bovey, where also traces of basalt appear, and chert and a bed of lignite coal (chiefly pinewood) are quarried; cobalt at Sandford, and fossil bacon (?) at Cruwys Morchard. Granite or moorstone (some red) abounds on Dartmoor, and is more modern than the neighbouring coal; limestone at Salcombe, Torquay, Branscombe, Chudleigh, etc., — with marble at Marychurch, Bickeston, Denbury, Babbicombe, Plymouth, S. Molton (black), the S. Hams (veined); gypsum at Plymo' and Salcombe Regis, and pipe clay (25 to 30,000 tons) at Wear Gifford, Merton, Petrockstow, King's Teignton (potter's clay here), Fremington, etc. Slate is quarried at Slapton, Alwington, Plympton St. Mary, Lamerton, Tavistock, — schistose for paving and tombs at Salcombe, Drews Teignton, etc.; basalt, quartz, flint, etc. in various parts. Chief rivers, in which salmon, plaice, trout are caught, are Taw (with its branch the Moule), Torridge, Dart (rising in Cranmere pool), Teign, Tamar (anc. Tamarus), Ex (Isca, with Barle, Loman, Creedy, Culm for branches), Tavy, Plym, Yealm, Erme, Avon, Otter, Axe (Aluanius), Lyn, etc.; chalybeate springs at Cleaves, Bellamarsh Brook, Bampton, Islington, Brixham (intermitted). Manufactures, employing nearly 7000 hands, are, woollen and serge (2448) at Cullompton, Exeter, Moreton, Hampstead, etc., — lace (1821) Honiton, Bradninch, Tiverton, — gloves (763), Torrington, — cotton (398), Exeter, — silk (355), — carpets at Axminster, — shoes at Ashburton, — earthenware at Bideford; in '47 (a bad year), 1482, 110, 51, 399 persons were employed in the woollen, worsted, flax, silk mills, respectively. Oysters, herrings, and other fish, are caught on the coast; and white ale is made at Kingsbridge, Modbury, and Dodbrooke. Climate, soft but moist, especially about the S. Hams (below Dartmoor), where the myrtle and other exotics grow in the air; about 4-5ths of the available soil is grass land, — and butter (360 lbs. yearly per cow), clotted cream, house lamb, are sent to market. The best orchards, yielding about 3½ hhd. of cider per acre, are round Exeter, at Doddscumbleigh, Chudleigh to Totness, and Newton Bushel, the red streak apple being the favourite; sweet cider is made at Staverton. In the red loamy soil of the vale of Exeter (200 sq. mls.), and the S. Hams (250 sq. mls.), much wheat (16 to 20 or 25 bush. per acre), barley (35 to 50 bush.), oats, beans, turnips, potatoes, are grown; sod-burning, or 'Devonshire', is still practised in W. Devon. and other parts to restore the fruitfulness of the soil. Stock of good native moor sheep 630,000, yielding 15,500 wool-packs; the N. Devon. cattle, a good breed also, are used to labour instead of the horse. Leases run from 6 to 10 years; farm buildings, called 'bartons,' are good and numerous, the farms being mostly 100 to 200 acres; cottages are cobbled (red earth mixed with straw), and last long; and the enclosures are mounds planted with coppice wood, as oak, beech, ash, etc., which contribute so much to the beauty of the country. Some of the native plants are, asparagus officinalis, many fuci, gentiana filiformis marsh centaury, liverworts, flax, myrica gale dutch myrtle, pinguicula villosa cornish butterwort, rubia peregrina wild madder, red valerian, etc. Among the antiquities are Grimpspound, a british town; cairns at Ilaldon Hill; logan stones at Withecombe and Drew's (or Druid's) Teignton, where are cromlechs, circles, etc.; camps at Hembury fort (roman) and Woodbury cast.; castles at Compton and Okehampton (the Court-nays'), Plympton, and Tiverton (the Rivers', first earls of Devon), Berry Pomeroy (the Seymours'), and Lydford, once the stannary prison; abbeys at Tavistock and Ford (a small part). At Linton, is the 'Valley of Stones' 1 m. long; and there are fine spots at Chudleigh rock, and Ivybridge. Bodley was born at Exeter, Reynolds at Plympton, Drake at Tavistock, Gay at Barnstaple, Marlborough at Ashe near Axminster, Raleigh at Hayes Farm, and at Bideford his friend the valiant Sir R. Grenville, who was mortally wounded in a sea fight of 13 hours, in which he alone 15 times repulsed the Spaniard with his 53 sail.
